Candidates who are unable to obtain copies of the prescribed form may apply on any similar typed (not handwritten) form showing exactly the wording and spacing of the sample form published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of the 1st September 1955, provided the blanks are filled up in the candidates' own handwriting.

(2) Particulars and certificates required.—Candidates should furnish evidence of their age, qualifications and previous experience together with certificates written not more than one year prior to the date of their applications, from responsible persons, testifying to their private character.

The Commission accepts only the age of a candidate as recorded in the Matriculation or the Secondary School Final/Leaving Certificate. In the case of a female candidate whose age is not recorded in the Matriculation or School Final Certificate, any of the following evidence of age is accepted by the Commission :—

(3) Fee.—Candidates must enclose with their applications a fee of Rs. 5 in the form of a receipted chalan from a Government Treasury or the Reserve Bank of India under the head "XXI—Miscellaneous—Receipts of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal". Money orders, cheques, etc., in lieu of treasury challans are not accepted. Postal order, however, may be accepted from candidates. They should be crossed and made payable to "The Deputy Secretary, Public Service Commission, West Bengal". No application will be considered unless accompanied with the requisite application fee.

Candidates abroad may deposit their application fees with the High Commissioner of India or the Embassy, as the case may be, and obtain receipts for the same, which will have to be attached to their applications to be submitted to the Commission.

Candidates in Government service should make sure before depositing fee that their applications will be forwarded by their superior officers. In no case will the fee paid with the application be refunded.

The Commission may remit fee in case of genuinely indigent and bona fide displaced person from Pakistan.

(iii) A displaced person seeking remission of the application fee must furnish besides the evidence required under Note (i) above, a certificate (in original) from a District Officer or a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature to show that he is not in a position to pay the prescribed fee."

(iv) An indigent displaced person shall, in the first instance, pay the application fee prescribed for a gazetted post advertised by the Commission but if he/she is selected for and appears at the interview, the fee paid by him/her will be refunded afterwards.

(4) Address.—Candidates should give their present address and should communicate at once any subsequent change of address.

(5) Canvassing.—Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support of their applications through persons of influence or officials of Government will disqualify them for appointment. Spontaneous recommendation from persons interested in the candidates or otherwise known to them will be disregarded.

(6) Applications from candidates who are in permanent or temporary employment under any Government, a local or Statutory Body (e.g., Damodar Valley Corporation), in India will be rejected unless they are submitted through the appointing authority of their posts or service.

Candidates serving under Government or a local or Statutory Body should submit an advance copy in the prescribed form. The application fee should in such cases be attached to the advance copy and not to the original. The candidature of such applicants may not however be considered if the original applications do not reach the Commission's office within a fortnight from the closing date. Unless applications in original or advance copies with application fees are received within the closing date, late applications may be rejected.

Third and Final Forecast of Barley Crop of West Bengal for 1959-60

(NOTE.—The figures of last year and this year shown in this forecast are based on the results of sample surveys and crop cuttings experiments conducted by the State Statistical Bureau, West Bengal.)

Season.—The weather conditions were generally favourable for the cultivation and growth of the crop in the districts of West Bengal excepting Nadia, Murshidabad, Burdwan, Bankura, and Malda.

Area and yield.—159,600 areas are estimated to have been under Barley crop this year as against 107,900 acres of last year.

Increase in acreage may be attributed to diversion of some aman paddy land where paddy crop was destroyed by floods to the cultivation of this crop.

The total outturn of Barley crop is estimated at 27,100 tons this year as against 28,900 tons of last year.

The average yield per acre of the crop is estimated at 4·62 maunds this years as against 7·28 maunds of last year.

The fall in average yield per acre may be attributed to lower yield rates generally obtained from new cultivated areas also to the unfavourable weather in some of the major Barley growing districts.

D. BASU,
for Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Public Health

NOTIFICATION

No. P.H./4502/2R-42/63.—9th August 1963.—Whereas the Governor is satisfied that the district of Cooch Behar excluding the municipal areas is threatened with an outbreak of small-pox;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897 (III of 1897), the Governor is pleased to prescribe the following temporary regulations for the prevention and control of small-pox and for the medical inspection, isolation, observation and surveillance of persons suffering from, or suspected of being infected with, small-pox in the said district for a period of six months:—

TEMPORARY REGULATIONS FOR THE PREVENTION AND CONTROL OF SMALL-POX.

1. In these regulations unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Health Officer" means the Health Officer of the district appointed by the State Government, the Chief Medical Officer of Health of the district, or the Subdivisional Health Officer of any of the subdivisions of the district within their respective subdivisions;

(b) "Sanitary Inspector" means a Sanitary Inspector appointed by the State Government;

(c) "Small Pox" means any disease accompanied by an eruption of vesicles or pustules;

(d) "Patient" means a person suffering from or suspected to be suffering from small-pox;

(e) "Medical practitioner" means any person practising the medical profession.

Notices

2. If in any case the Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of small-pox he may forthwith take such steps as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reasons why such work has been carried out.

3. If any measure which the Health Officer has by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice the Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation

4. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the State Government except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by such person:

Provided that where the conditions which led the Health Officer to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the person in possession of the property, the State Government may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The State Government may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer in carrying out the measure under regulation 3 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

5. The State Government shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations if he has failed to carry out an order issued under these regulations. He shall not direct the patient to be removed from the house unless it is, in his opinion, impossible to make proper arrangements for his isolation therein within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer.

Location of disease

6. When a case of small-pox occurs in a house, the nearest male relative in attendance upon the patient, or in the absence of any such relative the occupier of the house, or if the occupier be the patient, the senior male inmate of the house other than the patient of the house shall, within twenty-four hours of the onset of the disease, give information regarding the occurrence of such case either personally or in writing or by means of the chaukidar or other village watchman or headman to the nearest Sanitary Inspector.

7. (1) Every medical practitioner called in to attend upon any case of small-pox shall forthwith give notice of the case by a special messenger to the nearest Sanitary Inspector or to the Health Officer by post and the cost of such messenger in each case shall be defrayed by the State Government.

(2) The doctor-in-charge of a hospital or a dispensary within the district shall forthwith give notice of any case of small-pox brought to such hospital or dispensary for treatment to the nearest Sanitary Inspector by a special messenger and to the Health Officer by post, and the cost in each case shall be defrayed by the State Government.

8. Thana officers shall supply to the Health Officer such periodical returns of cases of small-pox as he may from time to time call upon them to furnish.

9. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may examine any person who is, or suspected to be, suffering from small-pox or who, in his opinion, may be infected with or likely to spread small-pox.

Isolation of patients

10. When the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector considers that the isolation of any patient is a precaution necessary for the protection of the neighbouring population, he shall order the patient to observe isolation and may order the nearest relative in attendance on the patient, or the occupier of the house in which the patient is staying, to arrange for the isolation of the patient in such a manner and for such a time as may be approved by the Health Officer.

11. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may order that any person, who has been in contact with a person found to be suffering from small-pox, shall be segregated for a period not exceeding a fortnight in a manner and in a place to be approved by the Health Officer.

12. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may order any person to be vaccinated or re-vaccinated within a time to be specified in the order.

13. No person shall enter any place wherein a patient is isolated under regulation 10, without the permission of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

14. When a patient has been removed from a house for isolation under regulation 10, the State Government shall provide for him free of charge a suitable place, with necessary attendants, diet, etc.

15. No person, who is or has been suffering from small-pox, shall leave the place where he has been staying until he has received from the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector written permission to do so.

16. No person while suffering from evident symptoms of small-pox or in the convalescent state of the disease with scabs of pocks on his body shall expose himself in any street, road, public place, shop, bazar or any place used in common by persons other than members of the family or household to which such infected person belongs or shall move from place to place unless he is proceeding to a hospital for admission and treatment.

17. BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. K. RAY,
Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Shri N. D. Srimani, Advocate.

For the Company: Shri J. K. Ghosh, Advocate of Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co., Solicitors.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 3821-I.R./IR/7L-17/62, dated the 29th August 1962.

Issue

Whether the termination of service of Shri M. L. Jain is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

After service of notices of the reference upon the parties, they appeared and filed their respective written statements. After the necessary preliminary proceedings and some adjournments, the case was finally fixed for hearing on 18th July 1963. On that date, the parties filed a joint petition stating that the case had been amicably settled out of Court and thereby the dispute had ceased to exist and praying for an award in terms of the said joint petition. As both parties have jointly stated that the dispute under adjudication has ceased to exist by virtue of an amicable settlement, this reference is to be disposed of by a "no dispute" award.

In the result, I make a "no dispute" award in the case in terms of the joint petition of the parties, a copy whereof is made a part of the award as an Annexure.

The dispute was raised by the workmen represented by Britannia Building and Iron Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union) against their employer Messrs. Britannia Building & Iron Co. Ltd., 287 G. T. Road, North, Howrah (hereinafter be referred to as the Company).

As usual notices were issued to the parties concerned who in pursuance thereof entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. Both parties took lot of time to comply with the orders for production of relevant documents and also for submission of statements of calculation of available surplus according to the Full Bench Formula. However, the case was heard, witnesses of the parties were examined and arguments concluded.

Union's case in the written statement is that the Company is a well established and prosperous engineering concern and has the capacity to pay living wages to its employees but not only it does not pay living wages to its workmen who are not even paid the minimum wages. The workmen, however, are being paid bonus every year before the Puja which is being treated as Puja bonus. Besides the Puja bonus the workmen will be entitled to additional bonus out of profit of the year and on this score they claim additional two months' basic wages as bonus out of profits.

The Company in its written statement has denied the alleged prosperity of its business in view of the restricted import policy of the Government and also on account of scarcity of raw materials. Still, however, the Company is paying fair wages to its workmen which is in no way less than the wages fixed by the Third Omnibus Engineering Tribunal. It is also stated that as a bounty some ex-gratia payments have been made to the workmen in some years before the Pujas and in some years payments have been made by way of advance. Previously the workmen's claim of bonus was rejected by the Company in view of the fact that there was no available surplus out of which bonus could be paid. The question of bonus for the years 1953-54, 1954-55 and 1955-56 was, however, referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal which also was pleased to reject the Union's claim of bonus. In 1959 the workmen demanded three month's wages as bonus. The Company had to reject the claim but at the suggestion of the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Howrah, the workmen were paid one month's basic wages as advance. The workmen are not entitled to claim any bonus for the year in view of the poor trading result, which will yield no available surplus for payment as bonus.

Decision

The Union has examined one witness and the Company has examined five witnesses. Some documents have also been tendered into evidence by the Company and none by the Union.

The issue as framed and formulated in the order of reference is:

Bonus payable on the eve of Durga Puja of 1959.

The issue as framed apparently would suggest customary or traditional bonus payable before the Puja. But really it is not. It would be abundantly clear from the pleadings of the parties that it is additional bonus claimed by the workmen out of profits made during the accounting year ended on 31st March 1959 and payable before Puja in the year 1959. In paragraph 8 of the Union's written statement it has been stated that workmen are entitled to additional bonus out of profit, payable on the eve of Durga Puja in 1959. The Union has, of course, stated in paragraph 6 of the written statement that "the workmen of this concern have long been getting some bonus which is treated as Puja bonus irrespective of profit and loss." The Company has denied this in the written satement (paragraph 9). According to the Company ex-gratia payments have been made to the workmen in some years before the Pujas and in some years payments were made by way of advance. There is no evidence before this Tribunal to show any payment of bonus as customary or traditional on the eve of Durga Puja. Admittedly, of course, there has been payment of one month's wages to the workmen on the eve of Durga Puja in 1959 which payment was treated by the workmen as Puja bonus but it was a payment of advance made in pursuance of the suggestion made by the conciliation officer. All these facts would be evident from the admitted notice, dated 6th October 1959 (Ext. F), that was issued by the concern immediately before the payment. Therefore, there is no evidence before this Tribunal to show payment of Puja bonus irrespective of loss or profit of the concern. It may further be jointed out that there is no denial by the Union to the fact stated by the Company that the workmen's claim of bonus for 1953-54, 1954-55 and 1955--56 as raised by their Union and referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal for adjudication was rejected by that Tribunal and there was an order that whatever advance was paid for the year 1955-56 would be recovered by the Company. Be that as it may, that is not the point at issue in the present reference. Here admittedly we are concerned with profit bonus, and accordingly both parties have submitted their calculations of surplus profits according to the Full Bench Formula. The Company filed the computation (which is marked Ext. B) on 16th October 1962. Union filed two calculations, one on 28th November 1961 and the other on 2nd April 1963, i.e., at the time of argument (both are kept with the record).

It has already been pointed out from the Union's written statement that the workmen have claimed additional bonus out of profit. Their claim is for two months' wages as profit bonus. According to the Union there will be sufficient available surplus for payment of additional two months' wages as bonus. But the Company has replied in the negative and it has shown in the statement of computation of available surplus Ext. B that there will be a deficit of Rs. 3,41,000 and odd and no surplus at all. The Union, on the other hand, has shown available surplus to the extent of Rs. 5.47 lakhs in the earlier calculation filed on 28th November 1961. In that calculation, of course, various important items of prior charges have been shown as nil. So, it was not a proper computation at all. In a subsequent calculation the Union has found available surplus to the extent of Rs. 1.01 lakh but without deducting from the gross profits proper amount of Income Tax and any amount of return on the reserves used as working capital and also without deducting any amount as rehablitation cost. The rehabilitation cost as calculated by the Company amounts to Rs. 3.52,000 and odd. If that amount only is deducted from the gross profit as calculated by the Union, then there would be left no surplus of profit. Besides the rehabilitation cost there is also another item of prior charge, namely, return on reserves used as working capital. However, these are matters to be discussed at length later on when I shall be considering the prior charges to be deducted from the gross profits.

The workmen have claimed additional bonus out of profit. What is bonus? The bonus has been defined as cash payment made in addition to wages as a stimulous to extra work and efficiency by the labour. But the claim for bonus will be admissible only if the business has resulted during the year in question in sufficient profits. The workmen are undoubtedly being paid their wages which, of course, according to them are far below the living standard. It has been laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that two conditions have to be fulfilled in order to justify the claim for bonus. The two conditions are:

(1) the existing wages of the workmen fall short of the living standard, and

(2) the industry makes huge profits, part of which are due to the contribution which the workmen made in increasing the production.

In the instant case there is no dispute that the level of the existing wages of the workmen is far below the living standard or in other words, there is some gap between their actual wages and the living wages which is the ideal to be aimed at. As to the other point there is no denial to the workmen's contribution to the increased production in the industry. It is admitted by the Company that the workmen are being very often paid extra amount before the Puja almost every year which is described by the Company as ex-gratia payment on some occasions and advance on other occasions. This fact abundantly proves that the workmen are not being paid the living wages but their existing wages fall short of it. Therefore, both the conditions are satisfied to justify the workmen's claim of bonus, specially when it is admitted that the Company made some profits during the accounting year in question.

But the basic concept of bonus is that its payment depends on surplus of trading profits available on calculation according to the Full Bench Formula evolved in the Bombay Mill Owners' Case 1950 (II) L.L.J. 1247. According to the Full Bench Formula distributable surplus has to be ascertained after providing from the gross profits the following prior and necessary charges, viz.—

(1) Depreciation,

(2) Taxes,

(3) Return at 6 per cent on the paid up capital,

(4) Reasonable return on reserves used as working capital, and

(5) Rehabilitation costs.

It must also be remembered that in working out of the formula another important factor should be taken into consideration is that the formula proceeds to deal with labour's claim for bonus on the basis that the relevant year for which bonus is claimed is a self-sufficient unit. After meeting the aforesaid prior and necessary charges on the gross profits of the year, available surplus has to be ascertained for payment of bonus to the workmen and when available surplus has been ascertained three parties will be there entitled to claim shares therein, viz.—

(1) labour's claim for bonus,
(2) industry's claim for the purpose of expansion and other needs, and
(3) shareholders' claim for additional return on the capital invested by them.

It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Company (1959 I L.L.J. 644) that "there cannot be any general rule as to the ratio or proportion in which the available surplus be so distributed. It would depend upon various facts like the extent of available surplus, the existing wages of the workmen, the extent of the gap between the existing wages and the living wages and whether there exists any gratuity fund and whether the industry has entered upon immediate programme of expansion and the extent of dividend actually paid to the employer." It would thus be clear that the essential concept of profit bonus is that there can be an available surplus determined accordnig to the Full Bench Formula, after meeting the prior and necessary charges. If there be no available surplus for distribution, there can be no case for payment of profit bonus. In the light of the above principles let us consider the materials of the present case in order to see if there be any available surplus for distribution as bonus to the workmen. The working of the Full Bench Formula begins with the figure of gross profits taken from the profit and loss account of the Company which are arrived at after payment of wages and D.A .to the employees and other items of expenditure. As a general rule, gross profits appearing at the face of the statement of profit and loss account, should be taken as the basic figure while working out the formula. Let us consider the calculations submitted by both the parties. The two calculations are set out below for convenience of consideration and proper appreciation.

The Company has produced before this Tribunal the balance-sheet of the relevant year which is marked Ext. A. The balance-sheet of the previous year that ended 31st March 1958 also has been produced and kept with the record. From the balance-sheet Ext. A the amount of profit is found to be Rs. 2,89,563. From this amount the Company has deducted a sum of Rs. 358. It is in the evidence of Company's witness No. 1 Shri Asit Kumar Roy, who is the accountant, that this amount was received by the Company during the year under review on account of share transfer fees. The Company's contention is that this item of profit is unrelated to workers' efforts and as such should be deducted from the profit. The Union has now allowed this deduction in its calculation of available surplus. Union has rather objected to this amount being deducted from the profit as claimed by the Company. The Company's contention is that to earn this amount of profit the workmen had no work to do. There was no efforts on their parts to earn this item of profit. But this contention of the Company does not appear to me very sound for the reasons that the workmen admittedly having dealt with correspondence and kept the account relating to this part of the business, it will not be correct to say that the workmen had no work to do in the earning of this profit.

The workmen maintained the accounts and dealt with the correspondence in connection with the share transfers. It is not the Company's case that the account relating to this part of the business was not dealt with or manitained by the workmen. Therefore, I cannot accept the Company's contention. There is also general contribution of the workmen in the work of the Company which cannot be ignored. So, this amount of Rs. 358 cannot be deducted from the profit. The Company has added back Rs. 1,30,000, which amount was earmarked as provision for loss in investment and another sum of Rs. 2,66,072 as depreciation provided in accounts. The Union has also added back identical amounts under these two heads. So, there is no dispute in respect of these two items.

The Company has further added back Rs. 1,421 which was shown in the balance-sheet on account of loss on sale of investments being capital loss. The Union has also added back this amount and as such there is no dispute in regard to this item.

The Union has further added back sundry charges amounting to Rs. 1,000, law charges of capital nature amounting to Rs. 850, charities of the amount of Rs. 1,890 and bonus charge on account of previous year Rs. 27,000. All these items have been omitted by the Company from their computation of available surplus. The Company in my view is not justified to omit these items excepting sundry charges. As regards the amount of charities it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that "a donation however charitable or philanthropic it may be, has to be added back for the purpose of arriving at the available surplus", [1960 (II) L.L.J. 34]. Therefore, this amount has to be added back to the profit.

As regards the next item of law charges of capital nature, the Company also was not justified in eliminating this amount from the profit in view of the fact that this item of expenditure was of capital nature as revealed from Company's document Ext. C.

As regards the next item, bonus charged in accounts (previous year), there is evidence to show that the Company paid one month's basic wages amounting to Rs. 27,000 and odd to the workmen before the Puja. According to the Company it was ex-gratia payment but according to the workmen it was paid as bonus. According to D.W.I. Shri Asit Kumar Roy, the Accountant of the Company, one month's basic wages would be Rs. 27,000 and odd as per document Ext. D. Company's written statement shows payment of one month's basic wages before the Puja previous to the relevant accounting year but the payment was called ex-gratia in some years and as advance in the relevant year. On a reference to the balance-sheets of the Company it may be noticed that on the liabilities side there is a head "salary, wages and bonus." The Company's accountant who has proved the balance-sheet does not say that the bonus was not included under this head. On the other hand, he has admitted payment of bonus to the workmen by the Company and inclusion of that payment under the head "bonus, wages and salaries." Therefore, I am inclined to allow this amount of Rs. 27,000 being added back to the profit as claimed by the Union.

It will appear from the Union's chart of calculation of available surplus that it has added back another sum of Rs. 1,000 under the head "Sundry charges." The Company has objected to this item being added back to the profit. The Union has not been able to convince me for adding back the amount of sundry charges. In absence of any justification for inclusion of sundry charges to the gross profit for the purpose of arriving at the available surplus, under the Full Bench Formula, I reject this claim of the Union. Therefore, adding up the items already referred to the gross profit it is found to be Rs. 7,16,796.

Now the prior charges are to be deducted from the amount of gross profit. The Company has deducted from the gross profit normal depreciation amounting to Rs. 2,45,012. The Union has also deducted the identical sum. But under the Full Bench Formula it is the notional normal depreciation amount and not the normal depreciation amount to be deducted from the gross profit, as has been decided in the case of Surat Textile Co. Ltd. (1957 L.L.J. II, page 648). It has been explained in that case that normal depreciation should be notionally calculated for the purpose of the Full Bench Formula. The amount of notional normal depreciation is usually higher than normal depreciation calculated under the Income Tax Act. The Company has not calculated the notional normal depreciation amount. It has claimed deduction of the normal depreciation amount as per Income Tax assessment order (Ext. C). Therefore, that being so, the Company having claimed deduction of lesser amount than what it is entitled to there can be no objection to this amount being deducted from the gross profit.

The next item of prior charge to be deducted from the gross profit is the income tax. Company claims income tax at the rate of 51.5 per cent. on the gross profit minus the amount of normal depreciation minus the amount of development rebate. Under this head the Company's claim is for Rs. 1,94,220. The Union has claimed deduction of this identical amount. But it may be pointed out that Union is not justified to allow deduction of Rs. 1,94,000 only by way of income tax specially when it has shown in its calculation gross profit amounting to Rs.7,17,000, which is higher than the amount of gross profit as per calculation of the Company. It is well settled in Meenakhi Mills' Case [1958 (I) L.L.J. 239] that "Income tax, for the purpose of Full Bench Formula, be calculated on the gross profits minus the total statutory depreciation which includes deveolpment rebate and additional depreciation, if any." It has also been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Company [1959 (I) L.L.J. 644] that "a provision for income tax for the bonus year should be calculated on the amount obtained by deducting the statutory depreciation which might include initial and additional depreciation from the gross profits." The Union does not challange the rate of income tax. The total gross profit as already found amounts to Rs. 7,16,796. Normal depreciation amount of Rs. 2,45,012 deducted therefrom and we get the figure Rs. 4,71,704. From this balance the development rebate amounting to Rs. 64,559 be deducted to get the balance of Rs. 4,07,225. Income tax be calculated on this amount at the rate of 51.5 per cent. The result is found to be Rs. 2,09,708. This amont of income tax be deducted from the balance of gross profit. After deduction of the income tax amount the balance is found to be Rs. 2,62,076 or we may put it as Rs. 2.62 lakhs.

The next item of prior charge as claimed by the Company is return at the rate of 6 per cent. on the paid-up capital amounting to Rs. 29,54,370. The amount under this head comes to Rs. 1,77,262. The Union does not dispute this amount and in its calculation it has deducted identical amount under this head. After deducting this amount of Rs. 1,77,262 from the balance of gross profit of Rs. 2,62,076 we get the balance of gross profit of Rs. 84,814.

The next item of prior charge to be deducted from the gross profit is reasonable return on reserves employed as working capital during the relevant accounting year. The Company claims interest at 4 per cent. on the working capital. It appears from the Company's calculations of available surplus that 4 per cent. return has been claimed by the Company on the working capital as it stood on 31st March 1959. The Company has found the working capital amounts to Rs. 14,83,625 by deducting current liabilities from the current assets of the year. But there is hardly any satisfactory evidence to satisfy utilisation of the entire assets or utilisatoin of the entire working capital as worked out by the Company in the chart of computation of available surplus. I, therefore, cannot accept this item of Company's calculation. There is, of course, evidence to show that the Company had to go for overdraft during the whole of the accounting year in question. Not only there is the evidence of the accountant of the Company but also the Company's Bank Pass Books have been placed before the Tribunal during the hearing of the case.

A chart in respect of overdraft account from the Banks during the relevant year (copy kept with the record) was also placed before this Tribunal at the time of the hearing of the case. So, there was no manner of doubt that the Company had to go for over-draft from their banks throughout the relevant accounting year. There is nothing in the cross-examination of the accountant of the Company to show that there was no amount of idle money in the hands of the Company during the year. On the other hand, there is evidence of the accountant to show utilisation of the entire available fund for the purpose of the business during the relevant year. Therefore, I am of opinion that the Company should get reasonable return not exceeding 4 per cent. on the amount of reserves and surplus available to the Company at the beginning of the relevant accounting year. This amount is found to be Rs. 6,23,246 as per balance-sheet of the year that ended 31st March 1958. Company is not entitled to claim interest on the amount of reserves and surplus actually found at the close of the relevant year that ended on 31st March 1959, as per balance-sheet Ext. A. This was the amount actually found at the close of the year. Therefore, in all fairness, in consideration of the evidence on the Company's side and regard being had to the cross-examination by the Union I am inclined to lalow deduction of return at the rate of 4 per cent. on the amount of reserves and surplus available to the Company at the beginning of the relevant year. That amount is Rs. 6,23,246. Four per cent. return on this amount will be Rs. 24,929. This amount be deducted from the balance gross profit of Rs. 84,818. So, we are left with the balance gross profit ot Rs. 59,885. This balance remains before deduction of the major item of prior charge, namely, the cost of rehabilitation of plant and machinery and of buildings. There is another minor item of prior charge claimed by the Company at the time of hearing of this case. It is wealth tax. It has not been included by the Company in the computation of available surplus according to the Full Bench Formula, that was filed earlier. At the time of hearing of the case the Company produced the order of assessment of wealth tax which was exhibited and marked Ext. C/1. This document was produced by the Company's chief accountant D.W.5 Shri Sachindra Mohan Sen Gupta. Union had opportunity to cross-examine him, but declined to do so. So, the payment of wealth tax by the Company as evidenced by this document Ext. C/1 is not disputed. It was a statutory obligation of the Company to pay wealth tax. Therefore, deduction of the amount of wealth tax should not be objected to. Moreover, the deduction of wealth tax paid by the Company has been approved by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of the Bombay Gas Co. Ltd. (1960 (I) F.L.R. 132). In the instant case the Company paid wealth tax amounting to Rs. 16,527 as was assessed by the Income Tax Department (vide Ext. C/1). Therefore, this amount be deducted from the balance of gross profit of Rs. 59,885 leaving the balance of Rs. 43,358.

Now, we come to the last item of prior charge namely, rehabilitation costs. It has been described as the first charge on the gross profits. It has been held that this being a major item of prior charge there is always a tendency on the part of the employer to inflate the figure and on the part of the employees to deflate it. It is for the Tribunal to reach a fair conclusion on the evidence before it. It is now well settled that the onus is upon the Company to prove what amount, if any, should be allowed as rehabilitation costs. It has further been held that this burden has to be discharged by the Company by adducing proper evidence and giving the other party an opportuity to test the correctness by cross-examination. The Company, therefore, has to prove the price of plant and machinery, the period during which it requires replacement, the cost of replacement, the amount standing in the depreciation reserve fund, and to what extent the fund at its disposal to meet the cost of replacement. The Company to discharge that onus has produced a copy of the balance-sheet of the relevant year Ext. A and also of the previous year (kept with the record) and also a few detailed statements regarding computation of rehabilitation costs of plant and machinery and also of buildings and structures (Exts. D/1, D/2, D/3 and D/4). The Company has further produced some price quotations (Ext. E).

It may be noted that the claim of rehabilitation covers not only cases of replacement, pure and simple, but of rehabilitation and modernisation. Expansion is, however, excluded from its scope.

It has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the decision on the question of probable cost of rehabilitation is always reached by adopting suitable multiplier. This multiplier is based on a ratio between the cost price of the plant and machinery and the probable price which may have to be paid for its rehabilitation, replacement and modernisation. After determining the total amount of rehabilitation by the application of a suitable multiplier in respect of each block it is to be divided by a suitable divisor in respect of each block in order to ascertain the annual requirement of the employer in that behalf. It has further been pointed out by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that in the case of divisor the employer usually seeks for a lower divisor, whereas the workmen claim a higher divisor and it is for the Tribunal to reach a fair conclusion after due consideration of the evidence before it about the future life of the blocks in question.

Remembering all these observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court let us proceed to consider what should be rehabilitation cost in the present case. The Company has divided its plant and machineries into four blocks according to their years of purchase. The first block consists of plant and machinery purchased up to 1938-39, the second block from 1939 to 1944, third block from 1945 to 1947 and the fourth block from 1948 to 1959. But in respect of buildings and sheds it has divided them into two blocks. The first block from 1939 to 1954 and the second block from 1955 to 1959. The Company claims rehabilitation cost amounting to Rs. 3,52,595 (vide Exts. B and D/4). As against this the Union has shown nil in the calculation of available surplus that was filed on 2nd April 1963. The Union, of course, found the rehabilitation cost on calculation to be Rs. 2.37 lakhs but according to the Union there was sufficient liquid fund available to the Company by way of total accumulated depreciation of 1958 and reserve and surplus not claimed as working capital to meet annual rehabilitation costs. But it is in evidence of the Company's Accountant (D.W.1) that no such liquid fund was available to the Company to meet the rehabilitation cost. His clear evidence is that the Company had no available fund. It had to fall back upon resources of the bank and the Company regularly had to overdraw from its banks. The Company placed before the Tribunal a chart to show the overdraft account on the Punjab Bank and the Central Bank of India during the year in question. The chart has been kept with the record. Therefore, here is evidence on the record to show that no liquid cash was available to the employer to meet the cost of rehabilitation. So, the Union's calculation is of no avail.

Besides the documents the Company has examined five witnesses, two of them are accountants of the head office, one is an accountant of the workshop, one is a works manager of Salkia Workshop and one is a civil engineer. The Company has applied 4.89 as multiplier in respect of first block of plant and machinery and 5.59 as multiplier in respect of the next block, i.e., from the year 1939 to 1944 and 2.27 in respect of the last block, i.e., for 1948-49. It has not claimed any rehabilitation in respect of the block from the year 1945 to 1947. D.W.2 Shri Chandra Kumar Das who is the accountant of the workshop is said to have prepared the chart regarding cost of rehabilitation. This witness, as I have pointed out, is an accountant of the workshop and is not a technical expert and he has admitted this fact in his cross-examination. He says that he has no idea of the plants and machineries, rehabilitation cost of which he has calculated. He further says that he has also no idea of the machineries for which quotations (Ext. E) have been received. He frankly admits that he cannot vouch for correctness of the quotations and the accuracies of the multipliers adopted for the purpose of determining cost of rehabilitation. That being the evidence of the man who made the calculation of cost of rehabilitation it is difficult to rely upon the multipliers adopted by the Company. There is no evidence that the price quotations relate to machineries in use in the factory of the Company or in other words, machineries in use in the factory of the Company are identical with the machnieries of which prices have been quoted in the documents. (Ext. E).

As regards useful life of the machineries the evidence of this witness is that this was supplied to him by an engineer. He does not say who was the engineer who acquainted him with the useful life of the machineries in use in the factory. However, there is the evidence of two engineers, one is D.W.3 Shri Haripada Gupta who is now works manager of Salkia Workshop of the Company. He started his career as a humble shop assistant in this workshop and gradually he has earned the position of works manager. He is a mechanical and electrical engineer. According to him the average life of the machines in use in the Company's workshop is 20 years. He has long been in service of the Company. He has been serving the Company for about 29 years and as such he is likely to be interested in supporting the claim for rehabilitation as presented by his employer. He himself admits that pre-1939 machineries are still rendering services and the management did not consider their replacement. This witness as works manager also does not say that he ever pressed for their immediate replacement on ground of uneconomic working of the said machines. Therefore, it is abundantly clear that the useful life of the machineries may reasonably be 25 years. But before coming to the question of divisors it will be necessary to determine the reasonable multipliers. I have already observed that D.W.2 Shri Chandra Kumar Das claims to have made and prepared calculation of rehabilitation cost but his competency in this respect has been discussed and from his own admission it is found to be almost nothing. It again appears from the evidence of D.W.3 Shri Haripada Gupta, the works manager, that it was prepared by Shri Dutt, the works engineer of the Company. That officer has not been examined by the Company and has not disclosed any reason for withholding the evidence. Therefore, it remains uncertain who actually made the calculation of rehabilitation cost.

As regrds the price quotation (Ext. E) there is no evidence to show that the machineries in use in the Company's workshop are identical with those whose price quotations have been filed. The technical man who is said to have calculated the rehabilitation cost has not been examined by the Company. D.W.2 Shri Chandra Kumar Das who claims to have estimated the rehabilitation cost admits to have no technical knowledge whatsoever. He knows nothing about the plant and machinery in use in the Company's workshop. The price quotations, as evident from the evidence of D.W.3, were received in the Company's head office and not in the workshop office. That being the state of evidence adduced by the Company on the point of rehabilitation, it is difficult to accept the multipliers adopted by the Company.

The Union has challenged the multipliers applied by the Company as very high. The Union in its calculation has applied as multipliers 3.5 for the first block of 1938-39 and 2 for the remaining three blocks of plant and machinery. The Union's contention is that 3.5 should be the multiplier for pre-1939 as was adopted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Companies (1959 (I) L.L.J. 644). But in that case machinery used in a cement industry and in the present case it is not so. Then again, that case came up for consideration a few years back from now. It is common knowledge that price level of plant and machinery, nay almost of every thing has registered rapid rise. It has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above case that—

> "prima facie it may appear that it is the price level prevailing in the bonus year that should be treated as relevant; but if the relevance of the evidence about the price level is limited only to the bonus year, it may hinder rather than help the process of a satisfactory determination of the probable cost of replacement. What the Tribunal has to do in determining such cost is to project the price level into the future and this can be more satisfactorily done if the price level which has to be projected into future is determined not only in the light of the prices prevailing during the bonus year but also in the light of subsequent price levels."

It goes on to say that the price level during the bonus year would no doubt be admissible, but that alone should not be taken as the basis for decision.

Therefore, Union's contention cannot be wholly accepted.

However, I have considered the contention of both parties and regard being had to the evidence placed before the Tribunal by the parties and also to the trend in price levels I am of the view that the multiplier would reasonably be 4 for the first 2 blocks, viz., 1938-39 block and 1939 to 1944 block and two would be the multiplier for the last block, i.e., for 1948-59.

Applying these multipliers the replacement value for the plant and machineries would come to Rs. 54.99 lakhs after deducting therefrom the breakdown value calculated at the rate of 5 per cent of the cost of price.

Now, in order to determine the annual replacement cost we shall have to find out suitable divisor. According to the Company's witness No. 3, the useful life of the plant and machinery would be 20 years. But I have already discussed the evidence and found that it should reasonably be 25 years and the Company has actually adopted 25 years useful life in the calculation of replacement cost (Ext. D/4). The annual replacement cost of the plant and machinery would, therefore, amount to Rs. 3.93 lakhs.

As regards buildings and sheds, there is the evidence of D.W.4 Shri Bhabadev Bhattacharji who is a civil engineer in the emlpoyment of the Company. He has prepared a chart to show that the value of the buildings and sheds has increased four times since 1939. This chart is Ext. G. There is nothing in his cross-examination to show that his calculation was erroneous or defective. Therefore, I am inclined to accept 4 as the multiplier for the first block and 1.5 as the multiplier for the second block.

In the matter of determining the divisor the Company did not take the opinion of this expert witness who is a qualified civil engineer. According to the Company the useful life would be 25 years. But according to the Union it would be 45 years. We get from the evidence of D.W.4 Shri Bhabadeb Bhattacharji that similar buildings and structures made with standard specifications of mortar may last up to 50 years. In this case he, of course, did not examine the mortars used in the construction or in other words, he was not very thorough in its scrutiny of the constructions. Therefore, regard being had to the evidence on the record I am inclined to take 40 years as useful life of the buildings and sheds in existence.

Accordingly from calculation the total annual replacement cost of buildings and sheds would be amounting to Rs. 63,000 after deducting therefrom the breakdown value at the rate of 5 per cent of the original cost price. Therefore, the total annual replacement cost of the plant and machinery and of the buildings and sheds would come to (Rs. 3.93 lakhs plus .63 lakhs; Rs. 4.56 lakhs. Deducting from this amount the depreciation amount of the year, i.e., 2.45 lakhs the balance is found to be Rs. 2.11 lakhs which will be the rehabilitation cost of the plant and machineries and of the buildings and sheds the Company would be entitled to claim. This amount is liable to be deducted from the gross profit in view of the fact that no other depreciation and general liquid reserve fund is available to the employer to meet rehabilitation cost. But the balance of the gross profit that remains is Rs. 43,358 only.

The result is thus found to be a deficit of Rs. 1.68 lakhs (Rs. 1,68,000). As there was no available surplus profit so the workmen will not be entitled to get any amount as bonus for the year that ended 31st March 1959.

The chart showing computation of available surplus in accordance with the Full Bench Formula, as per decision in the award, is made Annexure A to this award.

(Miscellaneous Case No. 93, under section 33A of 1962.)

For the complainant: Shri Parimal Das Gupta, Advocate.

For the opposite party: Shri Nikhil Ranjan Roy, Advocate.

AWARD

This is a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, filed by a workman, Shri Bholanath Sen, against his employer, Messrs. Britannia Building & Iron Co. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the Company), alleging contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Act.

His case is that he was charge-sheeted on 8th July 1961 for some misconduct and after a show of enquiry the Company punished him with suspension from 8th July 1961 to 30th July 1961 after finding him guilty of the charge that was levelled against him. This was done by the Company without justification and without obtaining approval of the Tribunal as required under proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Act and thereby the provisions of section 33 has been contravened.

The Company opposed the complaint by filing written objection. It has denied, inter alia, the allegations of false charge and sham enquiry and the alleged contravention of section 33 of the Act. The Company has further raised a preliminary objection questioning the maintainability of the present application. At the desire of the parties the preliminary point was taken up first for consideration and both parties were heard at length.

The applicant has complained of contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Act by the employer in not obtaining approval of the action taken against him by inflicting on him the punishment of suspension. The Company's contention is that no such approval was necessary and as such there was no contravention of any legal provision. Shri Parimal Das Gupta, Advocate, appearing for the workman, has contended that it was a case of contravention of the provision of section 33(2(b) proviso of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Let us see what is provided therein. Section 33(2)(b) of the Act provides that—

"During the pendency of any such proceeding in respect of an industrial dispute, the employer may, in accordance with the Standing Orders applicable to a workman concerned in such dispute—

(a) * * * *

Provided that no such workman shall be discharged or dismissed, unless he has been paid wages for one month and an application has been made by the employer to the authority before which proceeding is pending for approval of the action taken by the employer."

It is clear from the above proviso that an employer, may, for any misconduct not connected with the dismissal or otherwise but no such workman shall be discharged or dismissed unless the employer has complied with some requirements as provided in the proviso and one of which is that approval of the Tribunal will have to be taken by the employer of the action against the workmen. It is abundantly clear from the proviso to section 33(2)(b) that for punishment other than discharge or dismissal meted out to a workman the employer need not seek approval of the Tribunal. Such approval will be necessary only when the punishment inflicted on the workman will be either dismissal or discharge. In case of punishment of any other nature the employer will be under no obligation to take approval of the Tribunal. Admittedly in the instant case the punishment that was meted out to the applicant is neither dismissal nor discharge, but he was punished otherwise for his proved misdemeanour under rule 14, clauses (c), (d), (g) and (h) of the Standing Orders of the Company. Therefore the provision of the proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Act was not attracted to the present case and as such there was no contravention as alleged by the complainant. Therefore the present complaint must fail and accordingly it is rejected.

This is my award.

House Rent	2·46	100	100	100
Combined Index	100·00	118	114	114

The index number for Asansol-Ranigunj area came down by 4 points from 118 in December 1962 to 114 in January 1963 and remained steady in February 1963. The fall in January 1963 was due mainly to the fall in the price of rice, mustard oil, potatoes, coal and cowdung cakes. Though there was a fall in the price of firewood and cowdung cakes, it was not sufficient to bring down the index number in February 1963.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Hooghly Docking and Engineering Co. Ltd., 6 Howrah Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by (i) Hooghly Docking & Engineering Workers' Union, 77 Upen Mitra Lane, Salkia, Howrah, and (ii) Hooghly Dock Employees' Union, 22 Nandalal Mitra Lane, Salkia, Howrah. (Government Order No. 2761-I.R./IR/10L-25/59, dated 2nd June 1960.) (Case No. 131/60.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri R. BHATTACHARYA, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Workers' Union: Shri Ram Sen.

For the Employees' Union: Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

For the Company: Shri S. K. Mallick.

By the Labour Department Order No. 2761-I.R./IR/10L-25/59, dated 2nd June 1960, of the Government of West Bengal, this industrial dispute between Messrs. Hooghly Docking and Engineering Co. Ltd., 6 Howrah Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by (i) Hooghly Docking & Engineering Workers' Union, 77 Upen Mitra Lane, Salkia, Howrah and (ii) Hooghly Dock Employees' Union, 22 Nandalal Mitra Lane, Salkia, Howrah, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication. Messrs. Hooghly Docking and Engineering Co. Ltd., Hooghly Docking and Engineering Workers' Union and Hooghly Dock Employees' Union are described hereinafter as the Company, the Workers' Union and the Employees' Union respectively. The only issue for decision relates to the bonus for the year 1958 payable in 1959.

The parties to the proceedings appeared and submitted their written statements. In short, the case of the employees' Union is that the clerks and the subordinate staff of the Company are its members. The Company has its prosperous existence but its workmen are not getting adequate wages and proper amenities. Originally this Company and the Howrah Iron Works of Burn & Company Ltd. were under the Managing Agency of Messrs. Martin Burn Ltd. and governed by the same conditions of service and terms of employment. The payment of bonus was never on the basis of profit and the rates of bonus paid in the Company and in the Howrah Iron Works were identical. In 1955 the Company paid bonus to the workmen at a rate less than that of the Howrah Iron Works. The Union demanded six months' pay including two months' pay as annual Puja bonus. The Company paid no heed to the claim. The matter was taken up by the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Howrah, and a conciliation proceeding was started. Ultimately, it was agreed that the dispute should be referred to the Tribunal and consequently the reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act has been made to this Tribunal. It has been alleged that the accounts shown by the Company are faulty. The Employees' Union has claimed four months' basic pay as bonus out of profit and one month's additional pay as Puja bonus as a condition of service besides the bouns given by the Company for 1958.

Briefly stated, the case of the workers' Union representing the manual workers of the Company stands thus:

The workmen of the Company are denied living wages and the rates of wages are below the minimum wages. The labourers have been getting one month's wages as Puja bonus as a condition of service irrespective of profits and loss of the Company. For a long period Messrs. Burn & Co. and Messrs. Hooghly Docking & Engineering Company followed uniform practice in the matter of bonus and other issues. The Company is in the habit of raising exaggerated claims for prior charges to defeat the claim of bonus. The workers' Union has reason to think that the Company can pay four months' pay as bonus payable in 1959 besides the Puja bonus. The claim of the workers' Union is for payment of four months' wages as bonus for the year 1958 over and above the Puja bonus as condition of service.

The Company in its written statement denied the material allegations made by both the Unions. Its case is that the Company after its incorporation in 1901 started suffering loss for several years and in 1929 its capital had to be reduced to half on that account. But even thereafter the Company continued to suffer loss. The allegations about inadequate wages of the employees are denied. The story of bonus as condition of service is not true, and no such bonus was ever paid. The accounts of the Company are not incorrect, and no heads of charges are inflated. There was no available surplus out of profit to grant any bonus to the employees.

The first point raised from the side of the Unions is that this Tribunal should at the very outset decide whether the workmen are entitled to Puja bonus as a condition of service, and as a customary bonus. The Company, on the other hand, contends that this Tribunal has no jurisdiction to decide the question of Puja bonus as there is no specific mention of it in the issue, and in the previous awards this question has been decided against the Unions. In the written statements both the Unions have claimed Puja bonus besides profit bonus and their claims rest on condition of service. The Company also opposed their claims in their written statement. In the order of reference there is however no specific mention of profit bonus. The word "bonus" in the issue is too general to include both the types of bonus. In the circumstance, I hold that this Tribunal is to consider the claim of Puja bonus laid by the Union.

Admittedly, this reference has been made at the joint instance of the Unions and the Company. On the side of the Unions only one witness P. W. 1, the Assistant Secretary of the Employees Union, has been examined. It is in the evidence that the financial year of the Company runs from January to December. P .W. 1 has stated that monthly paid staff are paid bonus every year as far as his information goes from 1930. He has no personal knowledge as to when the payment of bonus started actually. His evidence is that bonus was paid by the Company on the basis of a rule prevailing in Burn & Co. and that payment of bonus was unconnected with the profits earned by the Company. In cross-examination this witness has said that there was a written declaration by the Company to the effect that bonus would be paid according to rules prevailing in Burn & Co., and that the said document was in possession of the Union. The document referred to by P. W. 1 has not been produced and no explanation has been given for non-production of the same. The witness says that he read the document but he does not remember the contents thereof. I reject the evidence of this witness as unacceptable. There is no reliable or corroborated evidence to prove that the employees of the Company are getting any Puja bonus or any bonus as a condition of service, express or implied. There is no acceptable evidence to prove that there had been any custom for any considerable or even any short period for payment of any bonus to the employees. Moreover, there is no specific or clear claim of customary bonus in the written statements of the Unions.

In connection with the question of Puja bonus as a condition of service or as customary bonus, I have gone through the previous awards made by Tribunals on the question of bonus. Exhibit M(2) is the award of the Third Industrial Tribunal on the question of bonus for 1954 between the Company and its workmen. The pleas taken up before me were followed in that case. The question of Puja bonus as a condition of service was considered but it was decided against the workmen.

In view of my findings and discussions above, I hold that the claim of Puja bonus by the workmen as condition of service or as customary bonus had not been proved, and the workmen are not entitled to it and on the principles of constructive res judicata again this claim should be refused.

The next and the important question is whether the workmen are entitled to any bonus out of the profit of the Company, if any, for the year 1958. The Company has filed balance-sheet, revenue accounts and profit and loss accounts for the year 1958. The booklet is marked Ext. A. On the side of the Unions calculation for available surplus has been marked Ext. 2. The Company filed a chart showing computation of available surplus or deficit for the year 1958. This has been marked Ext. B. During argument the Company filed a corrected chart for available surplus or deficit marked Ext. B(2).

Both the Unions representing the workmen at first attacked the balance-sheet, revenue account and profit and loss account on the allegation that the accounts have been shown in inflated figures including fictitious items to show that there had been no considerable profit in the year 1958. It has been further contended that in computing available surplus for the year in question the Company should have added back to the net profit certain items and that the Company should not have taken any advantage of some items for deduction. It has been contended from the side of the Unions during argument that the accounts shown in Ext. A are incorrect and that several items have been manipulated. Only one witness has been examined on the side of the Unions. He is P. W. 1. Krishna Prosad Mukherjee. This witness does not say anywhere that the accounts of the Company are incorrect, manipulated or unreliable. P. W. 1 is the Assistant Secretary of the Employees' Union and he has been working in the accounts department of the Company. There is no indication in the evidence of P. W. 1 to question the correctness and the bona fides in the balance-sheet, revenue accounts and the profit and loss account of the Company. As against the evidence of the Unions, the Company has examined the Chief Accountant of the Company. He is an Incorporated Accountant named Lala Himansu Das. From his evidence we get that in 1929 the share capital of the Company was reduced to Rs. 12,50,000 from Rs. 25,00,000 and this reduction was due to continuous loss of the Company. Before 1956 the auditors used to rely upon the valuation given by the Company, but they resorted to stray checking. After the promulgation of the Company's Act, 1956, the auditors do not rely upon the certificates granted by the Company regarding valuation. The auditors now check the valuation. P. W. 1 has affirmed that the statements made in Ext. A are correct based on actual facts. For the year 1958 Wealth Tax was payable by the Company. The Company comes under the purview of the Employees' Provident Fund Act. Miscellaneous expenses referred to in Ext. A at page 10 include the items mentioned in the list Ext. A(1). Subscriptions and donations mentioned at page 12 of the profit and loss account have been detailed in the list Ext. A(2). Exhibit B(1) is the chart showing computation of working capital. The loans and advances mentioned in Ext. B(1) have been described at page 9 of the balance-sheet. P. W. 1 has further affirmed that in 1958 the Company took loan on over-draft from the National Overseas and Grindlays Ltd. against mortgage as would appear at page 8 of the balance-sheet. Exhibit C series are memoranda showing dues from the Company. We further get that the Company executed usance promissory notes in favour of the National & Grindlays Bank. Exhibit D is the certificate in support of the usance promissory notes. The Company has also filed a chart showing the variations in prices of machine-tools since 1939 and also the increase in the replacement cost in the machinery. This is Ext. E. The quotations on the basis of which the chart was prepared are Exts. E series. P. W. 1 has also proved a chart of computation of rehabilitation charges for 1958 and this has been marked Ext. F. We also get from this witness that the Company has to pay commission to the officers of the ships which are repaired by it. This system of paying commission is the universal custom. The Company is also to pay taxes on such commission. A booklet issued from the Economist Intelligence Unit Ltd. is marked Ext. H. It shows changes in the replacement cost of industrial assets from 1938 to 1960.

The evidence on record shows that the statements of accounts of the Company for the year 1958 as shown in Ext. A were duly checked and audited by the auditors. The Chief Accountant of the Company has supported them and stated that they are based on the facts. There is nothing to suspect the correctness of the accounts. I therefore accept the balance-sheet, revenue account, the profit and loss account and the schedule of the fixed capital expenditure as on 31st December 1958 shown in Ext. A as correct. The Company did not produce before this Tribunal all vouchers and papers of account to prove each and every item. The Tribunal is not to do the function of an auditor. The Unions had sufficient opportunity to apply for discovery and inspection of the relevant papers of the Company but no steps were taken in that respect. Moreover, P. W. 1, the Assistant Secretary of the Union, works in the Accounts Department. He has not at all stated anything against the accounts of the Company.

I am now to see if there is available surplus to meet any demand of the workmen for bonus for the year 1958 following the principles formulated in the Full Bench decision accepted by the Supreme Court. Exhibit 2 is the chart showing calculation of the available surplus on the basis of the Company's accounts filed from the side of the Union. On the other hand, the Company filed several papers to show that the Company had suffered loss in 1958. Exhibit B is the chart showing computation of available surplus or deficit for 1958. Subsequently a corrected chart was filed by the Company and it has been marked Ext. B(2). Computation of the working capital is Ext. B(1). A chart indicating variations in prices of machine tools since 1939 is marked Ext. F(3). The Company has filed a corrected chart showing computation of rehabilitation charges for 1958, and this has been marked Ext. F(1). List of machine tools installed in the Company is Ext. K, Ext. H has already been mentioned. There are several other documents but I need not describe them in details. Mr. Cheape, the Works Manager of the Company, has been examined and he has spoken about the machineries. The Company has also examined Shri Benoy Krishna Bose, a valuer.

During argument, the learned lawyer for the Union wanted to add back to the net profit of the Company for the year in question certain items of accounts. The Company, however, strongly opposed. In Ext. 2 the amounts for Wealth Tax and Provident Fund were sought to be added back to the net profit. During argument however Wealth Tax has not been seriously pressed and no convincing ground has been shown by the Unions regarding Provident Fund.

Under the provision of law Wealth Tax was paid and the Provident Fund Scheme is working in the Company according to law. Every employee must join in the scheme and it is for the benefit of the workmen. It is a statutory liability. I find no reason to add back these two items to the net profit.

The Unions next suggested that miscellaneous expenses shown in Ext. A should be added back on the ground that there was no paper to support such item. I have already held that the items of accounts shown are genuine and correct. Moreover, the Company has filed Ext. A(1) giving details of the expenses. I reject the contention of the Unions.

The Company in Ext. B(2) has added back correctly depreciation charges, previous years' bonus charged, rent for earlier year and provision for Income Tax. The Unions' contention was that bank interest as stated in Ext. 2 should be added back as the loan might have been incurred for the capital expenses. We are not concerned with suppositional theories without any basis or reasons. I find no circumstance to accept the contention regarding this item.

Coming to the item of subscription and donations, Ext. A(2) gives the details. The total amount is Rs. 1,335 only. Out of this, the sum of Rs. 300 paid to the workers of the factory on the occasion of their Viswakarma Puja may be allowed and the balance of Rs. 1,035 should be added back to the net profit.

Another item has been challenged by the Union. This is the commission paid to the officers of the ships. The evidence shows that the commission is given for obtaining orders for the Company. This amount is spent for seeking works. The evidence further shows that this is a world wide system of business. In the circumstances, this item cannot be added back to the net profit. This commission has not been mentioned in Ext. 2.

Of the heads for deduction, the Unions have challanged rehabilitation charges and the return on working capital claimed by the Company in Ext. B(2). In this case the Company has claimed 4 per cent. return on working capital and in support of the claim a list showing computation of working capital has been filed and marked Ext. B(1). I find no reason to turn down the claim of the Company.

The rehabilitation charges claimed by the Company have been seriously challenged. For this item also, the Company must prove its case. This is an item in which there is scope for manipulation to set up frivolous and unscrupulous claim. The Company has filed several documents. Exhibit K is the list of machines and tools installed in the company. Exhibit H is the booklet published by the Economist Intelligence Unit Ltd., London, showing the changes in the replacement cost of industrial assets from 1938 to 1960. Exhibit F(1) is the computation of rehabilitation charges for 1958 prepared by the Company. Exhibit F(2) shows the original cost of the plant and machinery and building of the Company. Exhibit F(3) is the chart filed by the Company to show variation in prices of machine tools since 1939. Several other papers of valuation have been brought in evidence on the side of the Company.

The computation of rehabilitation charges relied on by the Company will appear in Ext. F(1). Out of the total claim of Rs. 16,27,000 a huge sum of Rs. 12,66,000 relates to pre-1939 machine tools. It has been argued from the side of the workmen that the Company has deliberately retained the old and useless machines only to claim a huge sum for rehabilitation charges. The evidence shows that most of the machines and plants are more than 40 years old and there are some aged 60 years. Ordinarily it is not expected of the management that the old fashioned and less productive tools should be retained at the cost of productivity, efficiency and financial gain. It is apparent that the old machines are still working though admittedly with less efficiency. The expected life of some of the machines has already expired, and some tools are almost at the point of exhaustion. These facts are, however, to be considered in the light of the circumstances enveloping the industry. There is no doubt that the Company is an old firm started with a huge sum of money as its capital. Due to the continuous loss of the Company, its share capital was reduced by the orders of the High Court from Rs. 25,00,000 to Rs. 12,50,000. Mr. Cheape, the Works Manager of the Company, has stated as follows:

> "From my knowledge of machineries in the shop I would say that all the pre-1939 machineries require immediate replacement without doubt. I have frequently asked for replacement of machines and, to my knowledge, replacement has not been done by the Company for lack of fund. The cost of machine tools since pre-war has gone up and, to my knowledge, the value of all these machine tools mentioned in the chart has gone up by 4 or 5 times."

The frank despair in the statement of the witness throws flood-light on the obstacles in the progress of the industry. The business management never wants less profit by retaining back-dated less productive machineries, if it is possible to acquire efficiency by purchasing up to date and modern machinery with the highest degree of skill and productive capacity. The production in that case will exceed the amount to be gained through rehabilitation charges on account of the existence of pre-1939 machine tools. The evidence shows that although the Company felt that old machines should be replaced by those of the latest design, it could not purchase them for want of sufficient fund. This is really unfortunate. Bonus for the workmen can not be given any place above the necessity of the industry for its existence and proper progress. I cannot, in this case, held that the Company has out of ill motive retained the pre-1939 machines only in order to get some rehabilitation charges at a higher rate. I hold that for want of necessary funds, the Company could not replace the old machines. This is high time that the Company should at once replace the old unproductive and less productive machines by the modern and up-to-date ones to increase the skill, efficiency and production for ultimate profit at an enhanced rate for the interest of both the employer and the employees. In the present state of affairs, I hold that the Company is reasonably entitled to the rehabilitation and replacement charges as claimed in Ext. B(2). I have considered the items in Ext. F(1) including the columns for multipliers and divisor, and I am of the opinion that it is reasonably acceptable.

Below is given the chart of the Company filed computing the available surplus or deficit, the figures being in thousand:

COMPUTATION OF AVAILABLE SURPLUS OR DEFICIT FOR THE YEAR 1958

(Figures in Thousand).

Net profit as per P and L account			185
Add: Depreciation charged ..	141
Provision for Income-Tax ..	270
Previous year's bonus charged in the account.	92
Rent for earlier year ..	18		521
			706
Deduct: Profit on Sale of Fixed Assets.	41
Tax on commission ..	107		148
			558
Deduct: Notional Normal Depreciation.		150
Income Tax
Gross Income	558
Statutory Depreciation ..	159
Tax at 51·5 per cent. on ..	399	205
Return on Paid-up Capital at 6 per cent.		75
Return on Working Capital at 4 per cent. on 2877		115
Rehabilitation Charges ..	1,627
Less: Notional Normal Depreciation	150	1,477	2,022
Deficit ..			1,464

On the whole, the above calculation is acceptable as reasonable with the modification that a sum of Rs. 1,035 under the head "Subscription and donation" should have been added back to the net profit before usual deductions. The items of deduction and the amounts thereunder are not unreasonable. In the result of this calculation there will be no available surplus for distribution of bonus to the workmen hand the deficit shown in Ext. B(2) would be less by Rs. 1,035.

During the conciliation proceedings there were settlements between the Company on the one hand and the workers' Union and the employees' Union on the other. Exhibits 4 and L are the memoranda of settlement. According to the terms of settlements, the Company has agreed to pay one month's basic pay as Puja bonus and a half month's basic pay as advance to the clerical and the subordinate staff. It has been further stipulated as follows:

> "Should the Tribunal award a bonus less than one and a half month's basic pay, the excess amount advanced will be recovered but total recovery shall in no case exceed half a month's basic pay. In the event of a bonus higher than one and a half month's basic pay being awarded by the Tribunal, the difference will be paid by Management."

Similarly it has been agreed further in the following terms:

> ".....the management will make an advance of one and a half months' basic wages (equivalent to basic wages for 312 hours) to hourly rated workmen. Should the Tribunal award a bonus less than the amount of the advance, the excess amount advanced will be recovered but total recovery from the advance shall in no case exceed half a month's basic wages. In the event of a bonus higher than the amount of the advance being awarded by the Tribunal, the difference will be paid to workmen".

Virtually the workmen have been allowed ex-gratia payment to the extent of a month's wages, call it bonus or advance non-repayable, for the year 1958. In the facts and circumstances of the case, the workmen should have no grievance. In the present reference, the workmen shall get no further relief.

Present:

Shri S. K. RAY, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal

The above dispute over the issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1994-I.R./IR/10L-231/62, dated 18th May 1963.

Issue

Bonus payable in 1961.

On receipt of the reference, notices were issued to the parties through registered post fixing 13th June 1963 for appearance and filing of written statement by the Union. The notices were duly served and acknowledgments were received back through the Post Office. On 13th June 1963 the Union appeared and prayed for extension of time for filing written statement, but there was no appearance for the Company. Time for filing written statement by the Union was extended to 28th June 1963. On that date, there was no appearance by either party and no written statement was filed by the Union. In order to give one more chance to the Union, time for filing written statement by the Union was suo moto extended by the Tirbunal up to 13th July 1963. On 13th July 1963 there was no appearance for the Union and no written statement was filed by it. In these circumstances, the case was fixed for ex-parte hearing or final disposal according to law on 20th July 1963. On 20th July 1963 again there was no appearance by either party and needless to say no written statement was filed by the Union. From the aforesaid conduct of the parties, it is clear that the parties are no longer interested in the dispute and they are not pursuing the dispute, which has thereby ceased to exist. Besides the bare reference by the Government, the parties have taken no steps for adjudication of the dispute and consequently the Tribunal is not in a position to adjudicate upon the dispute. Accordingly, there is to be a "no dispute" award on the basis that the dispute referred for adjudication has ceased to exist.

In the result, I make a "no dispute' 'award in the case.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by Order No. 4667-I.R./IR/11L-90/60, dated the 2nd September 1960, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

Issue

Justifiability of introduction of Tell-tale clock.

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of a dispute between the Oberoi Grand Hotels (1938) Private Limited and their workmen represented by Grand Hotel Karmachari Union (hereinafter described as the Union).

The Union's case is that the workmen in the air conditioning department look after the running and maintenance of the air conditioning plants and machines. The management is trying to introduce Tell-tale clocks to be used by the workmen of the department with the object of checking the works of the mechanics although the checking is done by examining the entries in the books maintained. The Union prays that the Company may be directed not to introduce Tell-tale clocks for use by the workmen of the air conditioning department.

The Company's case is that on many occasions the workmen were found not attending to the air conditioning plants and machineries at regular intervals and proper checking of their work was not always possible, and that for the purpose of making effective check of the work of the workmen of the air conditioning department, Tell-tale clocks were sought to be introduced. The Company contends that the management has a right to introduce Tell-tale clocks for use by the workmen for the purpose of proper checking of their work which will result in better attention being given to the plants and machineries by the workmen of this department.

Both the parties adduced evidence. At the time of the argument, the learned Advocates of both the Company and the Union submit that the present reference is not maintainable as there is no industrial dispute between the Company and their workmen in the matter of introduction of the Tell-tale clocks. The learned lawyer for the Company submits that the management has every right to decide as to how their employees should work and how the management should effectively check their work and that the workmen cannot raise any dispute far from raise any industrial dispute in respect of mode or method of work. The learned Advocate for the Union submits that the objection raised by the workmen of the air conditioning department against the introduction of the Tell-tale clocks is not an industrial dispute as it does not relate to conditions or terms of employment of the workmen of this department.

I have considered the arguments on the question of maintainability of the reference, and I am in complete agreement with the submissions of lawyers of both sides that the reference is not in respect of any industrial dispute and as such it is not maintainable. As the dispute is not connected with the employment or non-employment or with the terms of employment or with conditions of labour, the reference cannot be held to be maintainable.

I therefore hold that there being no industrial dispute between the Company and the workmen, the present referenc is not maintainable. An award is made accordingly.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Shri Lakshmi Narayan Ray, Bus Owner, Bolpur Proper, district Birbhum, and their workmen represented by Birbhum Motor Workers' Association, P.O. Blopur, district Birbhum. (Case No. VIII-C-324/59.)

BEFORE THE SECOND LABOUR COURT, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri M. K. ROY, Judge, Second Labour Court.

The Government of West Bengal by their Labour Department Order No. 6261-I.R./IR/4L-73/59, dated the 24th November 1959, referred to this court an industrial dispute between Shri Lakshmi Narayan Ray, Bus Owner, Bolpur Proper, district Birbhum, and his workers represented by Birbhum Motor Workers' Association, Bolpur, district Birbhum, for adjudication upon the issue whether the dismissal of Shri Jatindra Nath Ghose, Bus Driver, is justified and to what relief if any he is entitled.

AWARD

After the service of usual notices both parties took some time in filing their written statements and then the case came up for final hearing. Thereafter a talk of compromise arose between the parties and a date was fixed for the result of the talk of compromise. But on the date fixed for that purpose neither party appeared. So the talk of compromise was given a good by and then a date was fixed for hearing of both the parties. On two subsequent dates again none appeared for any of the parties. However, the court gave a chance and fixed the case for hearing on the 18th June 1963 On that date Shri A. K. Sarkar, Advocate, alone turned up but none appeared for the Workers' Association. However, another date was fixed on 10th July 1963 for hearing of the matter and it was noted in the order-sheet that if the parties failed to appear that day also the case would be heard and disposed of ex-parte under rule 21 of the Industrial Dispute Rules, 1958. However, on that date Shri A. K. Sarkar, Advocate for the employer, and Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate for the Workers' Association, appeared and the latter filed a petition on behalf of the workers for an adjournment. The other party's lawyer did not raise any objection thereto. So as the last chance 24th July 1963 was fixed for hearing of the case and it was noted in the order-sheet that if the Union failed to appear on that date also the case would be disposed of by a "no-dispute" award. In spite of this neither party appeared on the date fixed for hearing nor any step was taken on behalf of any of the parties.

It is apparent on the face of the record that after the talk of compromise neither party was very interested in the matter and from what have gone above.

I have every reason to take it that no dispute exists between the parties. I, therefore, pass this "no-dispute" award and dispose of the case accordingly.

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri R. BHATTACHARYA, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

This industrial dispute between Messrs. Sarat Textiles Ltd. and their workmen represented by Sarat Textiles Workers' Union, was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The issue is "Whether the discharge of 28 workmen (as per list) with effect from 6th October 1962 is justified? If not, to what relief are the workers entitled?" The names of 28 workmen referred to in the issue are mentioned in Annexure "A", which is a part of this award.

Notices were issued to the parties and written statements were filed by them. 27th June 1963 was the date fixed for hearing.

When the case was called for hearing, the Union prayed for an adjournment on the ground that the file of its case record was missing. I was not satisfied that the ground of adjournment was bona fide, and as agreed to by the Union, I reluctantly allowed the adjournment with a cost of Rs. 15. A long period was, however, allowed to the Union. Today none has appeared on the side of the Union when the case is called for hearing. It is 1.35 p.m. None of the parties is present when the case is taken up for hearing. In the circumstances of this case, I hold that the Union does not like to fight out the case here and I presume that there is "no dispute" between the parties at present.

In the result I pass a "no dispute" award.

AWARD

The above dispute over the Issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 2333-I.R./IR/13L-12/63, dated the 11th June 1963.

Issue

Is the termination of service of the following workmen justified? What relief, if any, are they entitled to?

3. Shri Netai Charan Kundu.

The notices were duly served and acknowledgments were received back. On 4th July 1963 the Company appeared through its Manager, Shri V. K. Batra. But, there was no appearance by or on behalf of the Union. In order to give one more chance to the Union to appear and file its written statement, the Tribunal sue moto adjourned the case to 19th July 1963 for the purpose. On 19th July 1963 there was no appearance by either party and, needless to say, no written statement was filed by the Union. The Tribunal again suo moto adjourned the case to 29th July 1963 in order to give the parties another chance to appear and to take necessary steps for adjudication of the dispute. On 29th July 1963 there was again no appearance by either party and no step was taken by any of them. It is clear from the aforesaid conduct of the parties that they are not pursuing the dispute under reference and have given it up and thereby the dispute has ceased to exist. In these circumstances, the case is to be disposed of by a "no dispute" award on the basis that the dispute has ceased to exist.

In the result, I make a "no dispute" award in the case.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Imperial Art Cottage, 1A Tagore Castle Street, Calcutta-6, and their workmen represented by Press Employees' Association, 249B

Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12. (Case No. VIII-54/63.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri Basanto Kumar Mukherjee, Advocate.

For the Union: Shri Anil Das Chowdhury, Advocate.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department Order No. 1162-I.R./IR/13L-6/63, dated 19th March 1963, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Imperial Art Cottage, 1A Tagore Castle Street, Calcutta-6 (hereinafter referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by Press Employees' Association, 249B Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12 (hereinafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication is as follows:

Whether the dismissal of Shri Durgapada Misra is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

AWARD

Both the parties have filed written statements stating their respective cases in respect of the said issue. The workmen's case in short is as folows: Shri Durgapada Misra was an old employee of the Company and he happened to be an active member of the Union concerned, the Union being the accredited representative of the workmen of this concern. Shri Misra was, however, summarily dismissed by the Management on and from 20th March 1962 without any charge-sheet or enquiry whatsoever. This dismissal is challenged as illegal and unjustified and hence this dispute.

The joint receivers of the Company file a written statement and inter alia allege as follows: The joint receivers have been appointed "receivers" of the business in question by the Original Side of the High Court on 17th February 1962 in connection with a civil cuit. It is accordingly urged that these proceedings cannot be instituted or maintained against them without the leave of the Hon'ble Court. The receivers deny that the Union concerned is the accredited representative of the workmen because this Union was never recognised by the Company. Shri Misra was no doubt summarily dismissed on 20th March 1962 for a gross misconduct and yet he was given a hearing before he was dismissed by the joint receivers.

Decisions

From the various admitted documents tendered in evidence by the parties it is clear that the Company is now in the hands of the joint receivers and Shri Durgapada Misra was actually dismissed as alleged by the joint receivers on 20th March 1963. But in the order of reference, the receivers are not made parties. The business in question—a Press only—named and styled as Messrs. Imperial Art Cottage has been mentioned as the employer. But neither the proprietors of the business nor the joint receivers have been impleaded as such in this order of reference or the dispute in question. So, I think, the order of reference is defective to this extent. It appears, however, that the joint receivers have appeared in this case and filed written statement also though they were not summoned as such. Summons was issued in the name of the business or the Company. The joint receivers are no doubt two of the proprietors themselves. On 8th July 1963 the Union filed a petition for summoning the receivers as such. This petition was neither moved nor pressed at any time. Evidently, the leave of the Hon'ble High Court was never obtained by the Union for impleading the receivers as parties to this case. So, in the circumstances no action could be taken on such a petition, and it was directed to be put up on the date fixed for hearing. On the date of hearing also the Union neither pressed the prayer nor moved the Tribunal in this respect. So, the prayer automatically fell through and the Union straightway tendered evidence as usual on merit. But I am afraid the lacuna remained as before and so this award may not bind the receivers themselves, who had actually passed the order of dismissal against Shri Misra on behalf of the Company. This Tribunal also could not summon the receivers as such they being officers of the Hon'ble Court, as a matter of course, without leave of the Court; and this leave was never obtained by the party concerned. So, I think, the defect is rather fatal for these proceedings and no relief can be granted in this case.

It is next urged on behalf of the Company or the receivers that this dispute is an individual dispute and not an industrial one. The workman concerned or the employees of the Company are purported to have been represented by the Press Employees' Association, an Omnibus Union, and not a Union of the workmen of this particular industry or the Company alone. The receivers simply allege that the Company never recognised this Union and so the Union cannot represent the workman before this Tribunal. But, I am afraid, a representation of the workmen by the Union under section 36 of the Act or any other section does not depend upon recognition of the Union by the Company, if the cause of the workmen concerned has been otherwise esposed or taken up by the majority or large section of the workmen of the Company. So, I think, the very nature of the objection raised is not sufficient to defeat the reference or jurisdiction of this Tribunal. From the evidence on record, of course, it is difficult to say that the cause of the workman concerned has been actually taken up or espoused by a large section of the workmen sufficient to transform the individual dispute of Shri Misra into an industrial dispute. But this objection as to jurisdiction or industrial dispute has not been taken specifically in the written statement by the receivers and I am afraid the Company or the receivers cannot challange the jurisdiction for the first time at the time of hearing without allowing the workmen or the Union a timely opportunity to prove that it is an industrial dispute. So, I cannot accept this contention of the employers' side in the circumstances mentioned above.

Assuming for argument's sake only that this reference does not fail on any technical ground, let me look into the merit of the case. The concerned workman has no doubt been summarily dismissed without any written charge-sheet or domestic enquiry. From the evidence of the employers' side it appears that there was an incident on 20th March 1962 between Shri Misra and Shri Lakshman Chandra Sil, and one of the joint receivers had been to the spot at about the time. It was alleged that Shri Misra was guilty of a misconduct and he was asked to make amends. But Shri Misra refused to confess guilt or yield in any way. So, Shri Misra was summarily dismissed. The learned Advocate for the Company urges that Shri Misra fully knew of the charges against him and there was a spot enquiry, though orally, then and there and no rules of natural justice were actually violated. But, I think, a domestic enquiry to be valid according to rules of natural justice must be held in writing and a written charge-sheet must be issued before enquiry. The charge-sheeted person must be given sufficient opportunity to defend himself, examine witnesses on his behalf and cross-examine the witnesses who speak against him on the other side (vide 1956 L.A.C. 65). Nothing of the kind was done in this case and so there is no question of the Tribunal's supporting the management decision in this case. As the validity of the order of dismissal has been challanged, the Tribunal must satisfy itself about the propriety of the order and come to a decision of its own. As there has been no enquiry the order of the Management is at large and the Tribunal has to come to its own conclusion on the evidences before it.

The Management has examined three witnesses in this connection. Shri Lakshman Chandra Sil, the Officer-in-charge, Shri Khagendra Nath Dey, the Hand Compositor and Shri S. P. Dhar, the joint receiver who had passed the orders, have been examined before this Tribunal. From their evidences it is clear that Shri Misra was asked to do a particular work in a particular way but he refused to do it accordingly in spite of repeated directions by Shri Sil and the joint receiver Shri Dhar. Shri Misra did the work in a particular way according to his own ideas, because his opinion was that he had done the work in accordance with the common system of composition. So, he refused to correct or change it in any way, though it was not in conformity with the customer's instruction or superior's direction. Shri Misra, it appears, used abusive and insulting words also against Shri Sil, who was admittedly his superior officer. That he misbehaved and misconducted himself to Shri Sil is clear from Shri Misra's own letter also marked Ext. A in this case. Shri Misra lately made amends also, but it was a bit too late. So, there is no doubt that Shri Misra was guilty of indiscipline as well as serious misdemeanour on 20th March 1963. The learned Advocate for the workmen contends that no specific charge was ever brought against Shri Misra at any time for dismissal, and so the Tribunal also cannot make any enquiry in the absence of any precise charges. But from the evidences and circumstances on record, it appears to me that Shri Misra fully knew the charges against him and he simply accepted payment of his dues also on the very date of dismissal. Moreover, the letter Ext. 1 produced by the workmen clearly shows what were the charges against him. So, I do not think that there was any uncertainty about it at any time and that the workman has been prejudiced on that account in the present enquiry or proceedings also. Shri Misra's own letter Ext. 1 also lends support to this conclusion of mine. So, my considered opinion is that Shri Misra was guilty of the charges levelled against him. The question that remains to be considered is what is the appropriate punishment in this case. Is the punishment of dismissal too harsh? Shri Misra is no doubt guilty of gross indiscipline as well as disobedience, insubordination and objectionable behaviour towards his superiors. So, I think, he deserves dismissal and this Tribunal should not interfere with the order of dismissal. There was no occasion for victimisation or unfair labour practice. I make no order for any compensation also on any ground not only because of the technical defect already pointed out but also in view of the fact that Shri Misra's dues have already been paid in full. So, he is not entitled to any relief in this case.

This is my award.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by Order No. 3917-I.R./IR/7L-33/62, dated 5th September 1962, with subsequent Corrigendum No. 775-I.R./IR/7L-33/62, dated 21st February 1962 and Order No. 766-I.R./IR/7L-33/62, dated 21st February 1963, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute for its adjudication to this Tribunal.

Issue

Whether non-payment by the Company of the usual retiral benefits including pension on the basis of the salary last drawn prevailing in the Company to the following workmen is justified? To what relief, if any, are the workmen entitled?

(i) Shri Satish Ch. Das, (ii) Shri Hiralal Barui, (iii) Shri Satya Charan Patra, (iv) Shri Krishnapada Sanati, (v) Shri Netai Ch. Das, and (vi) Shri Bankim Behari Das.

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, relates to a dispute in respect of gratuity and pension payable to the workmen under reference. Since the reference was made by the Government, workman No. (iii) Shri Satya Charan Patra and workman No. (vi) Shri Bankim Behari Das died and the dispute for adjudication is now between the Union—Bengal Chatkal Mazdoor Union representing the four workmen under reference and the two Companies—the Orient Jute Mills Company Ltd. and the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd.

The Union's case is that the four workmen under reference Nos. 1, 2, 4, and 5 were employees (clerks) of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. By order of the Hon'ble High Court, all the properties, rights and powers and all the liabilities and duties of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. were transferred to the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. with effect from the 31st July 1960. The workmen under reference were given the option to resign from service "with full benefits" The workmen then resigned to go on retirement and in their applications they mentioned that pension might be calculated on the basis of the last pay drawn, but when the workmen retired from service, their gratuity and pension were calculated on the basis of their pay on 10th December 1951, although some workmen were given gratuity and pension on the basis of the last pay drawn before retirement. The Union now prays that gratuity and pension be paid to the four workmen under reference calculating the amount on the basis of the last salary drawn by each of them before retirement.

The Company—the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. —filed a written statement. It is the case of this Company that the employees under reference, i.e., Nos. 1, 2, 4 and 5 were working in the estabilshment of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. which Company has long been dissolved and there was no existence of that Company on the date of the present reference. The Company contends that the present proceedings are not maintainable. The Company alleges that the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. ceased to exist as a separate unit with effect from 1st August 1960 having merged in the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. The employees mentioned in the order of reference retired from service tendering resignation due to old age and long service, that they were accordingly relieved of their duties on payment of full benefits to which they are entitled as per rules, i.e., clerical staff scheduled salary applicable from 1951 and that the workmen under reference were informed that they would be paid as per rules. The Company submits that as the amounts were fixed according to rules, the workmen under reference are not entitled to any further payment.

Decision

It is the admitted case of the parties that the four workmen Nos. 1, 2, 4 and 5 under reference were clerks in the establishment of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd., that the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. merged in the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd., that the latter Company took up all the assets and liabilities of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. with effect from 31st July 1960 and that when these four workmen of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. went on retirement the order for payment for gratuity and pension was made by the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd.

I will now take up the question of maintainability of the present proceedings. The Company, the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd., was not a party in the original reference. The original reference was in respect of a dispute between the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. and their workmen and the reference was dated 5th September 1962. As the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. had ceased to exist from 1st August 1960 and as all the assets and liabilities of the Company were transferred to the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. by an order of the Hon'ble High Court (Ext. E), the Government amended the reference on the 21st February 1963 by including the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. in the reference. Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co. Ltd. were the Managing Agents of both the Companies. For the purpose of adjudicating the dispute, the Cheviot Jute Mills Co. Ltd. is a necessary party and the award that will be passed shall bind the workmen of Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. (now merged in the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd.) and the Cheviot Mills Co. which Company is the successor of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. This being the case, the present proceedings must be held to be maintainable.

I have already said that Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co. were the Managing Agents of both the Companies and they are still the Managing Agents of the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. It appears from Ext. A that a pension scheme for the Indian Clerical Staff of the Company under the Managing Agency of Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co. was introduced from 1951. One of the rules is to the effect:

> "pension value will be in proportion to basic salary subject to the proviso that basic salary for the purpose of pension value calculations will not exceed those advised in the Indian clerical staff schedule of basic salaries effected from 10th December 1951."

An employee, according to the pension scheme, is entitled to exercise any of the three options mentioned in the scheme. The Union has filed the copy of the letter, dated 27th July 1960, written by Shri Krishna Pada Sanati (serial No. iv in the reference) who applied to the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. for permission to retire from service with effect from the 1st November 1960 "due to old age and long service." He made a prayer for granting of pension "under option No. 3 under the pension scheme." He added that the calculations might be made on the basis of the last pay drawn (vide Ext. 6). It is therefore correct to assume that the workmen knew about the pension scheme and the rules relating to the granting of gratuity and pension. It was stated by P.W. 2 Shri K. P. Sanati that the workmen had no knowledge of the pension scheme but this statement is obviously incorrect as in his own letter, Ext. 6, he claimed pension under option No. 3 of the pension scheme. It appears from Ext. 7, a letter written in reply to Ext. 6 by the Mill Manager of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. on 29th July 1960, that the Company accepted the resignation of the workmen from the 1st November 1960 and it was clearly stated in this letter—"pension under option 3 will be payable to you from November 1960 in accordance with the rules of the Company". Similar letters were written and received by the other workmen. It is clearly proved by these letters that the workmen retired from service claiming pension under option No. 3 of the pension scheme, although they made a prayer that in calculating pension, last pay drawn should be taken into consideration. The Company permitted them to retire and to get pension under option No. 3 of the pension scheme in accordance with the rules. The prayer for taking the last pay drawn as the basis for calculation of pension under option No. 3 of the pension scheme was not accepted by the Company but the calculation was made on the basis of the salaries effective from 10th December 1951. P.W. 2 Shri Sanati says that at the time of merger of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. in the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd., the latter Company requested the senior clerks of the Orient Jute Mills Co. Ltd. to go on retirement as the Company would not be in a position to absorb all the employees of Orient Jute Mills but there is no documentary evidence to prove this allegation of P.W. 2 that the workmen were asked by the Cheviot Mills Co. Ltd. to go on pension. In absence of any documentary evidence, I am unable to accept the oral testimony of P.W. 2 as true and correct. The Union submits that in calculating pensions the Company took into consideration the last pay drawn of some employees and as such the gratuity and pension of those employees were in excess of what they would have been entitled to according to any of the options of the pension scheme introduced in 1951. The Company admits that some excess payments have been made by the Company to some of the clerks who had gone on retirement, but this was due to inadvertence and the Company contends that any payment made by mistake or inadvertence could not create any precedent in the matter of claiming higher pension over and above that what was provided in the pension scheme. This contention of the Company must be considered to be sound. The Union has nothing to prove that there was any scheme or any practice in calculating pension on the basis of the last salary drawn. I have already referred to the letter, Ext. 6, by P.W. 2 to the Company asking for permission to retire from service and claiming pension under option No. 3 of the pension scheme. It is clearly proved by Ext. 7 the reply given by the Company to the workmen concerned that the Company would pay the pension under the pension scheme according to rules. So, the Company nowhere accepted the request of the workmen made in the letter that in calculating the pension, the last pay drawn was to be taken to be the basis of the calculation. Considering all the facts and circumstances I hold that the workmen under reference are not entitled to any gratuity and pension in excess of what the Company has already sanctioned for each of them.

The learned Advocate for the Company submits that according to the direction of the First Omnibus Jute Textile Tribunal governing the grant of retiral benefits to the Jute Mill workers any pension scheme prevalent in the Jute Mills was to be replaced by the Provident Fund Scheme which was formulated by the said Tribunal. It is true that according to the award of the First Omnibus Jute Textile Tribunal there was a direction that the pension schemes prevalent in the Jute Mills or in a number of Jute Mills were to be replaced by the introduction of the Provident Fund Scheme. This being the case the Company has no statutory obligation to pay any pension to their workmen in view of the fact that all the members of the clerical staff are enjoying the benefit of Provident Fund. It is further submitted on behalf of the Company that as an ex gratia measure the Company decided to pay certain pensions to their clerical staff, over and above their entitlement for Provident Fund. In this particular case the workmen under reference who are members of the clerical staff were not only given the benefits of Provident Fund accumulations but also pension which must be considered to be ex gratia payments. In this view of the case also, the claim of the workmen under reference for extra amount of money as gratuity and pension cannot be considered to be tenable.

In view of all the facts and circumstances discussed above, I find that the workmen under reference are not entitled to any relief claimed as the Company made all payments according to its pension scheme and rules. This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. National Tobacco Co. of India Limited, Agarpara, having its registered office at 1 & 2 Old Court House Street, Calcutta-1 and their workmen represented by N. T. C. Employees' Union, Nilganj Road, P. The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department Order No. 3778-I.R./IR/11L-229(A)/62, dated 27th August 1962, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. National Tobacco Co. of India Ltd., Agarpara, having its registered office at 1 & 2 Old Court House Street, Calcutta-1 (hereinafter referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by N. T. C. Employees' Union, Nilganj Road, P. O. Agarpara, 24-Parganas (hereinafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication in this case is as follows:

Bonus payable to the workmen in 1961.

AWARD

This reference has rather a chequered career. It was originally referred for adjudication to the local Seventh Industrial Tribunal by a Government Order, dated 19th February 1962. Subsequently, however, the Government by its order, dated 18th May 1962, withdrew the dispute from that Tribunal and transferred it for adjudication to the local First Industrial Tribunal. A few months after the receipt of this reference by the First Industrial Tribunal, the Judge of that Tribunal made a request to the Government for withdrawal of this reference from that Tribunal on the ground that the learned Judge was a tenant of Messrs. B. N. Elias and Co. for a few years—the fact being that Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co. was interested in the present Company as its Managing Agents. After this request the Government by its Order No. 3778-I.R./IR/11L-229(A)/62, dated 27th August 1962, withdrew the dispute from the First Industrial Tribunal and transferred it to this Tribunal for adjudication. These proceedings were actually received by this Tribunal on transfer on 31st August 1962. It may also be mentioned that the written statements of the parties concerned were actually filed during the pendency of this dispute before the Seventh Industrial Tribunal and no fresh written statement has been filed thereafter.

The Union's case in respect of the matter at issue is as follows: Messrs. National Tobacco Co. Ltd. is a large concern manufacturing mainly cigarette and other tobacco products and employing at the relevant time about 2,000 people. The Company is equipped with modern and up-to-date machineries and has got enormous scope for expanding its business. The business of this concern is quite progressive and it is making substantial profits from year to year, so much so that even within a short period of five years it has distributed out of profits more than Rs. 59 lakhs as dividends to its shareholders, paid more than Rs. 31 lakhs as remuneration and commissions to its Managing Agents and built up a huge reserve of more than Rs. 1 crore even before the year under consideration. It is urged that the Company has sufficient capacity to pay living wages to its workmen, though it is not actually paying the same till now. In the year 1960—the year under consideration the Company has actually earned a huge profit, and accordingly the workmen demanded a sum equivalent to four months' wages as bonus. The Company having failed to accept this demand of the workmen, the present dispute arises.

The case of the Company, on the other hand, may be briefly stated as follows: It is urged on behalf of the Company that its number of employees is not actually constant and it fluctuates according to the volume of work from time to time. Though the Company has earned some profits in the year 1960, they are not such as to warrant payment of any bonus to the workmen. It is pointed out that the Company has hitherto declared dividend on preference shares according to the rate prescribed in such shares. It is also contended that the remuneration of the Managing Agents has been paid in accordance with the terms of contract entered with them and the said terms have been approved by the Central Government also. As to bonus, it is urged that though no bonus was payable to the workmen, the Company in order to maintain and promote peace and good relationship between the management and the labour, paid to the workmen 1/24th of their basic wages as ex-gratia payment for the accounting year 1957, 1/12th of the basic wages for the accounting year 1958 and 1/8th of the basic wages for the accounting year 1959. These three payments were actually made during the year 1960. It is accordingly urged that the Company has no available surplus on the basis of the Full Bench Formula for payment of any bonus in respect of the year 1960.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows.

Decisions

From what I have stated above, it is clear that the workmen of the present Company has no demand of any Puja bonus or bonus as a condition of service. Evidently, the workmen's demand is profit bonus out of available surplus, if any, from the profits of the year 1960. The simple contention of the workmen is that the Company not only earned sufficient profits during the year, but there is sufficient available surplus also for distribution of bonus in accordance with what is popularly known as Full Bench Formula. The Company opposes this claim simply on the ground that in fact there is no surplus available for distribution of bonus. It is not the case of the Company that this claim for bonus fails on any other technical ground or reason. For successfully maintaining a claim for profit bonus, the workmen have to fulfil two preliminary conditions. In deciding the Muir Mills case, the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India has laid down that profit bonus is intended to bridge the gulf, if any, between the standard of living wages and the actual wages paid by the Company to its workmen. In other words, it is ordinarily presumed that for successfully maintaining a claim of profit bonus, the workmen have to establish that the wage structure of the Company has not attained the living wages standard. So, if there be any gap between the average of existing wages and the standard of living wages, it may be filled up out of surplus profits after meeting revenue expenditure and essential prior charges of the Company. Thus it presupposes that for maintaining a claim for profit bonus, the Company's profit and loss account of the year should show a net profit after meeting its revenue expenditure. In the instant case, there is not much dispute between the parties in respect of these two conditions. Admittedly, the Company's profit and loss account for the year under consideration shows a net profit of Rs. 30,67,717. So, it can be at once observed that one of the conditions has been undoubtedly fulfilled. The next question is whether the existing wages of the workmen of this Company have actually attained the living wages standard. Here I must observe that the learned Counsel of the Company, Shri P. P. Ginwala, very fairly concedes that he will not oppose the claim of the workmen on this score. So, without any hesitation, it can be said that judging by the standard laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court the wages of the present concern have not actually attained the living wages standard. Thus the workmen have actually satisfied both the essential conditions for maintaining their claim for profit bonus.

This being the position, I am to consider next whether there is any available surplus out of profits of the year for payment of bonus to the workmen concerned. By now it is the accepted position of law that this available surplus, if any, has to be calculated in accordance with the Full Bench Formula originally evolved by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in deciding a case between Mill Owners' Association, Bombay vs. Rastriya Mill Mazdoor Sangha, Bombay, and subsequently explained and elucidated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in different cases including A. C. C. case. According to this formula the Tribunal has to ascertain the total gross profits of the year taking the relevant year as an independent unit for bonus purpose. After ascertaining the gross profits, the Tribunal has to deduct the prior charges as defined by the formula. If there be any surplus available after meeting the prior charges, it may be equitably distributed amongst the workmen, shareholders and the Company. The balance-sheet of the Company in respect of the year in question is already on record, and this balance-sheet including the profit and loss account for the year has been accepted as correct by both the parties. On this basis, the Company has filed its own calculation to show what, if any, available surplus will be out of the profits of the year. Similar calculation has also been filed on behalf of the workmen. For convenience of discussion, I would like to quote verbatim the two calculations filed by the parties concerned, because they do not agree beyond certain points.

(b) Penal super tax is payable under section 23A of the Income-tax Act (Old) if dividend distributed is less than the statutory percentage of the distributable income of the Company of this year.

From the above two calculations it will be clear that the parties more or less agree up to a certain point with regard to the quantum of gross profits in respect of the year under consideration. There is no dispute, as I have mentioned above, regarding net profit of the year. There is also no dispute regarding three amounts to be added back for ascertaining the gross profits. But I may point out here that both the calculations suffer from some defects. From the profit and loss account of the year it will be seen that the Company earned Rs. 17,218 as profit on sale of fixed assets. It goes without saying that this is an extraneous profit and should not be taken into consideration in assessing the gross profits of the year for bonus purpose. In calculating the available surplus, the Company has no doubt deducted this amount last of all out of the gross profits, as if it is one of the prior charges under the formula, but in fact it is not, on the other hand, this amount has not been deducted at all in the calculation of available surplus made by the workmen. So, I at once find that this amount of Rs. 17,218 should be deducted from the gross profits before the prior charges under the formula are actually deducted.

There is dispute regarding another amount of money which has been shown as revenue expenditure in the profit and loss account of the year. In this connection, I may refer to page 12 of Ext. A. It will be seen therefrom that a sum of Rs. 69,85,776 has been charged to the revenue of the year on account of "salaries, wages and bonus" paid during the year. The Company has filed a break up of this item of expenditure, and it is shown in details in Ext. L-2. From that statement, it will be clear that Rs. 32 lakhs and odd was paid towards salaries, Rs. 34 lakhs and odd as wages and Rs. 3 lakhs and odd as bonus. In other words, even according to the management, more than Rs. 3 lakhs was paid during the year on account of bonus. The learned representative for the workmen contends that the amount paid as bonus during the year under consideration was actually so paid on account of bonus in respect of the three previous years, and so this amount also should be added back for assessing the gross profits of the year. I think there is considerable force in this contention advanced on behalf of the workmen. In this connection, I may refer to paragraph 10 of the Company's own written statement filed in this case. From that paragraph it will appear that the management paid different amounts of bonus in respect of the years 1957, 1958 and 1959 during the year 1960, and long before the balance-sheet and profit and loss account of the year 1960 was drawn up. It has not been separately shown in the profit and loss account what amount was actually paid as bonus in respect of the said three previous years. It must be remembered in this connection that in working out the Full Bench Formula, the labours' claim for bonus should be based on the relevant year for which bonus is claimed. This relevant year should be taken as a self sufficient unit and appropriate accounts have to be made on the notional basis in respect of the said year. So, profits earned in any previous year should not be taken into consideration for bonus purpose. Similarly, no expenditure which was incurred during the year in respect of any earlier year should be taken into account. So, even if the Company made payment of bonus in respect of the previous three years during the year under consideration, that should not be taken into consideration for calculating available surplus in respect of the relevant year. The learned Counsel for the Company contends that bonus which was paid by the management on the basis of an agreement between the parties should be treated as revenue expenditure for the year. I am afraid, the Full Bench Formula as elucidated by their lordships of the Supreme Court in the famous A. C. C. case, does not support any such proposition. Of course, it may be urged that besides bonus paid in respect of the three previous years, the Company also paid production bonus to some of its employees during the year under consideration. But to me it appears that production bonus is not really a bonus as it is popularly known. Production bonus is nothing but incentive wages. If any incentive wages were included in the amount of bonus shown in Ext. L-2, I would normally expect the Company to have shown it separately. So, in the absence of any such evidence, I take it that the amount shown as bonus paid was really paid in respect of the years 1957, 1958 and 1959. If any amount had been advanced after the close of the year 1960 on account of bonus for the relevant year 1960, I am sure that amount has not found place in the profit and loss account of that year. In this view of the matter, I find that a further sum of Rs. 3,08,297 should be added back for assessing the gross profits of the year, as this amount was paid on account of bonus in respect of previous years.

In the above circumstances, the position of gross profits stands as follows:

			Rs.
Net profit			30,67,717
Add back—
		Rs.
Provision for taxation ..		25,38,115
Provision for depreciation ..		5,90,719
Development rebate		3,00,468
Bonus paid in respect of previous years		3,08,297
		37,37,599	37,37,599
			68,05,316
Less profit on sale of fixed assets		..	17,218
			67,88,098

Having ascertained gross profit as above, the next step is to determine how much of it is to be distributed as bonus. According to the formula, there are certain recognised prior charges to be deducted from the said gross profit before one arrives at the available surplus for distribution as bonus. Provision for depreciation is one of the prior charges to be deducted from the gross profits. It has also been settled by various decisions that the amount of depreciation to be deducted is not the normal depreciation as provided in the Income Tax Act. It is also not in dispute that initial or additional depreciation cannot be taken into consideration for such deduction. Various decisions of the Supreme Court have settled finally that the amount to be deducted as a prior charge on account of depreciation is nothing but notional normal depreciation including multiple-shift depreciation, but not initial or additional depreciation. The Company claims that a sum of Rs. 5,90,719 should be deducted as prior charge on account of notional normal depreciation. In this connection I may also refer to page 12 of Ext. A (P. & L. Account) wherein this amount has been charged to the revenue on account of depreciation of the year. The Company's Accountant, Shri Ajit Kumar Mitra, in his deposition before this Tribunal swears that the figure of notional normal depreciation shown in the Calculation of Available Surplus is identical with the actual figure provided in the balance-sheet. He adds that in assessing the notional normal depreciation, initial and additional depreciations are not taken into account, and that for income-tax purpose the Management makes separate calculation. In his cross-examination, Shri Mitra further adds that provision for depreciation as shown in the balance-sheet (P. & L. Account) is always calculated by this Company on the basis of notional normal depreciation and this has been the practice of this Company all through. There is no evidence to the contrary on record, though the Company has not filed any separate calculation to show how the figure of notional normal depreciation has actually been arrived at. I may also mention in this connection that only two witnesses have been examined in this case on behalf of the Company. There is no oral evidence whatsoever on the side of the workmen. So, practically the evidence adduced on behalf of the Company goes unchallenged. Thus it appears from the evidence on record that the Company usually provides for notional normal depreciation in its profit and loss account though for income-tax purpose it claims full statutory depreciation including initial and additional depreciation, if any. So, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, I hold that the said amount should be deducted entirely on account of notional normal depreciation.

The next item of prior charge to be deducted is income-tax payable for the year. In calculating available surplus in Ext. B, the Company sought deduction of a sum of Rs. 26,57,835 on account of income-tax. But this claim has been modified at the time of hearing, because according to Shri Mitra the said amount of income-tax was calculated without deducting development reserve from the assessable income of the year. It goes without saying that in calculating income-tax notionally for the purpose of the Full Bench Formula, the Company is bound to deduct the full amount of statutory depreciation including development reserve. In this view of the matter, according to Shri Mitra the prior charge on account of income-tax cannot exceed Rs. 25,38,150. Shri Mitra in his cross-examination admits that the actual income-tax for the year has not yet been finally assessed by the Income-tax Authorities. He concedes that in calculating income-tax as shown in Ext. B, he has taken only normal depreciation into account, and not additional depreciation or any other deduction permitted by law. So in the absence of any other evidence on record, I finally hold that a sum of Rs. 25,38,150 only is to be deducted on account of income-tax.

The next item of prior charge to be deducted is return on paid up capital. The present Company is an old one, and its paid up capital obtained from the subscribers is surely entitled to some return out of the gross profits of the year. The only dispute in respect of this item of prior charge is what should be the rate of reasonable return on the paid up capital in this particular case. In fixing a fair return for an investment, the point for consideration is, of course, the amount of risk involved. Besides risks, the element of shyness in investment for giving an unpracticable return should also not be lost sight of. An employer, however sound his financial position may be, is entitled to a fair return on the money he puts in the business. At the same time, it must be remembered that in India, the capital is more or less shy. For this reason also a poor rate of return on capital is to a certain extent prejudicial to the economic prosperity of the country. Nevertheless, from the various decisions of the higher courts, it is sufficiently clear that in all normal cases the usual rate of return is 6 per cent. per annum. But I must mention here that this rate of 6 per cent. return which is usually granted is not an inflexible one. In appropriate cases, the return on paid up capital may be higher or lower than this in consideration of the risk involved in the industry as also other relevant circumstances. It is not the case of the learned Counsel for the Company that this particular industry engaged in the manufacture of cigarette, etc., is an unusually risky one. So, in this case there is no question of allowing extra return on account of any extra risk. The only argument advanced on behalf of the Company is that the ordinary rate of 6 per cent. return on paid up capital was fixed by the Supreme Court and High Courts at a time when the law regarding payment of income-tax on Company's profits was different from now. It is not in dispute that before 1957 or so the Company was required to pay in all about 51½ per cent. as income-taxes, while the shareholders were not required to make payment of any income-tax separately on dividends received by them. But in the meantime, the law has changed, and the Company is required to pay roughly 45 per cent. as income-tax on the profits earned by it. On the other hand, the dividend received by the shareholders has become taxable irrespective of the tax paid by the Company declaring dividend. Shri Ginwalla, the learned Counsel for the Company, submits that on mathematical calculation, 6 per cent. return on the paid-up capital of the earlier period is as good as 8.5 per cent return of these days. I do not know how this figure of 8.5 per cent return has been arrived at by the learned Counsel. Be that as it may, there may be some force in the argument that there has been some change in the situation in view of the change in the provisions of income-tax law. For instance, formerly a Company was required to pay about 51 per cent as income-tax and it was entitled to claim 6 per cent. return on paid up capital. In other words, the Company could deduct much more than 51 per cent of the assessable income or profits before distribution of any available surplus. Now that the rate of income-tax has been reduced to 45 per cent, the Company can deduct much less out of the profits or assessable income. Of course, these are very very rough estimates only to show that there has been some change in the situation. In spite of this change in the position, I may point out that Courts have been usually granting 6 per cent return on paid up capital except under special circumstances. In this view of the matter, I do not see sufficient reason for allowing 8.5 per cent return on paid up capital. Before I fix the rate of reasonable return in this particular case, I may also point out certain other facts. From page 3 of Ext. A (balance-sheet) it will be clear that there are certain preference shares whereon the Company is not bound to pay more than 5 per cent as dividend, which is, of course, free of tax. Similarly, there are second preference shares whereon tax-free dividend is payable at 4½ per cent. Following the decision in the case of Indian Hume Pipe Co. Ltd. vs. Their workmen, it can be at once observed that the Company cannot claim, as of right, return at a higher rate, when under the contract it is not bound to pay dividend on preference shares beyond certain fixed rate. At page 14 of Ext. A it will be seen that the paid up capital on preference shares amounts to about Rs. 45 lakhs, while the paid up capital on ordinary shares amounts to about Rs. 80 lakhs. Under the contract, the Company is not liable to pay more than 5 per cent return on preference shares, and for that portion of the capital the Company should not be allowed return above that rate. Of course, the ordinary share capital of the Company is entitled to at least 6 per cent return. The learned representative of the workmen contends that the share capital of ordinary shares should not be allowed more than 6 per cent return as usual. I have already pointed out that the learned Counsel for the Company urges that this portion of the capital at least deserves higher rate of return. But in view of the fact that the share capital on preference shares should get return of 4½ per cent or 5 per cent as the case may be and also in view of the fact that the share capital of ordinary shares deserves some liberal consideration in view of the change in the income-tax law, I think, it will be equitable in this particular case to allow 6 per cent return on the entire paid up capital. So, I finally hold that the paid up capital taken as a whole should bear a return of 6 per cent only.

The next item of prior charge to be deducted from the gross profits is a fair return on reserves, if any, used as working capital by the Company during the year under consideration. The reserves which are carried over from year to year belong to the Company, and not to the shareholders. If such reserves are employed as working capital, the necessity of borrowing from outside for business purpose is obviated. So, before allowing any deduction under this item, several questions are to be considered. The first question is whether the Company had any reserve of liquid money to be utilised for business purpose during the year under consideration; and if so whether the Company utilised these reserves during the year or any part thereof. The next point is what should be the rate of return on reserves used as working capital. I may mention here that there is dispute between the parties as to the amount of reserves, if any, used as working capital. There is also dispute as to the period for which such reserve, if any, was actually utilised. Besides, there is also dispute regarding rate of return. I may mention here at the very outset that as usual courts have been granting 4 per cent return on reserves used as working capital. The learned representative for the workmen submits that in this particular case also return on reserves used as working capital, if any, should not be more than 4 per cent. But the learned Counsel for the Company urges before me that 5.71 per cent return should be allowed on reserves used as working capital. In support of his contention, the argument that was advanced is that 4 per cent return of the earlier years is practically equivalent to 5.71 per cent return of the present days. His argument is more or less similar to what he advanced in connection with paid up capital discussed above. I am afraid his argument regarding working capital has not much force. In case of paid up capital, the shareholders receiving dividends from the Company have now to pay tax separately in respect of dividends received by them irrespective of the tax paid by the Company, but this was not the position previously. But the position in respect of working capital is quite different. Whatever return is allowed on working capital is actually received by the Company itself even now as before. The Income-tax Law has not actually changed in respect of return allowed on working capital. In this view of the matter, I think, the Company cannot claim more than 4 per cent return on reserves, if any, used as working capital.

The next question is whether the Company had any reserve to be used as working capital as alleged on behalf of the Company. In this connection, I may refer to a statement submitted on behalf of the Company and it is Ext. C. In this exhibit the Company tries to show that it had Rs. 1,09,18,231 as reserve and surplus in the commencement of the relevant year. This part of the statement is based on schedule 2 at page 15 of Ext. A. The Company next shows that it had in its depreciation fund a sum of Rs. 75,68,474 and this figure is based on schedule 3 at page 15 of Ext. A. The Company also contends that it had Rs. 56,57,491 as provision for taxation at the commencement of the year, and this part of the statement is based on the extreme left column of page 8 of Ext. A. The Company further tries to show that at the commencement of the year it had Rs. 14,94,430 as provision for dividends at the commencement of the year. There is dispute between the parties as to whether all these different amounts of money claimed to be reserves in the hand of the Company can actually be treated as reserves for the purpose of bonus formula. In Schedule 2 of the balance-sheet no doubt several items of reserves are mentioned. Reserves for capital expenditure and general reserve are no doubt reserves within the meaning of the formula. Some amount of money has no doubt been invested by the Management, and the profits arising out of this investment has actually been included as revenue income of the Company (vide credit side of the profit and loss account of Ext. A). There is authority to show that the invested capital, the profit of which has been treated as business profit by the Management, should be treated as reserve for the purpose of assessing the working capital. Of course, if the profit arising out of investment is not treated as revenue income and if this investment is not a part of the Company's ordinary business, then this invested amount might be excluded while assessing working capital. In this particular case, from the conduct of the Management it will appear that investment was treated as a part of Company's ordinary business, and the result or gain thereof was also treated as revenue income. So, I treat this invested capital also as part of the Company's reserves.

With regard to development rebate and reserve for bad debts, I may at once observe that these items also may be treated as reserves or liquid fund in the hand of the Company. The Company claims that a sum of Rs. 64,304 previously provided for contingency should also be treated as reserve. This amount, as the name suggests, was an amount for a specific purpose, and the purpose was to meet the current liabilities though unascertained. This amount has been transferred from the contingency account to the revenue account at the close of this year only. So, this provision for current liabilities is not ordinarily entitled to any return, and as such it should not be treated as a reserve. In this connection, I may refer to a decision in the case of General Electric Co. of India Ltd. vs. Their workmen (1957 LAC) wherein it has been held that mere provision for contingency should not be included in the reserves used as working capital.

The next disputed item is the proposed dividend mentioned above which was sought to be included in the reserves used as working capital. From the liability's side of the balance-sheet, it will appear that the Company had in its hand this amount of money at the commencement of the year, and this sum actually represented the dividend to be paid or actually paid during the year under consideration to the shareholders. The Company's Accountant, Shri A. K. Mitra, states in his deposition that he has taken the declared dividend for the year 1959 but paid in September 1960 as part of the reserves used as working capital during the first eight months of the year 1960. It is not in evidence when this dividend was actually declared. As soon as a sum of money is declared as dividend, it ceases to be Company's money. Dividend may actually be distributed sometime later, but for that reason the amount kept for that purpose cannot be treated as reserve in the hand of the Company till it is distributed. The Company is allowed certain return on reserves, because it is its own money and it is free to deal with this money in any way it likes. But a declared dividend even if temporarily utilised for some purpose by the Management cannot be treated as reserve in the true sense of the term.

The next disputed item of money is provision for taxation. From the extreme left-hand column at page 8 of Ext. A it appears that the Company had a provision of Rs. 99,30,905 for taxation at the commencement of the year 1960. There was an advance payment of Rs. 42,73,414 out of the said provision during the year 1959. Hence, it is contended that the Company had in its hand a sum of Rs. 56,57,491 as provision for taxation at the commencement of the year 1960. In Ext. C the Company tries to make out that it paid several sums of money out of this provision during the year 1960, and still there was residue of liquid money in each month, and the Company claims return thereon on the allegation that this sum also was used as working capital. This figure, as I have pointed out, has been arrived at simply by apparently collating the balance-sheet. In fact, this exact sum cannot be arrived at by addition or subtraction of different items of revenue charges mentioned in the profit and loss account of the year. If this provision for taxation mentioned under the heading "current liabilities and provisions" are mere undischarged liabilities or anticipated liabilities and no liquid money was actually provided therefor, the question of treating the same as reserve or user thereof as working capital does not really arise. The profit and loss account no doubt shows that a sum of Rs. 25 lakhs and odd was charged to the revenue as provision for taxation. This amount, if added to the residue of such provision at the commencement of the year, will not show the exact amount of provision for taxation mentioned under the heading "provisions" at the close of the year. The total amount of provision for taxation shown in the balance-sheet of the relevant year has not been actually arrived at by adding the current year's provision to total provision of the previous year. There is some discrepancy here. A sum of Rs. 71 lakhs and odd has been shown as advance payment out of the total provision at the close of the year 1960. If an advance payment of a sum of Rs. 71 lakhs and odd has already been made out of this provision during the year 1960, and if the opening balance of the year was only Rs. 56 lakhs and odd, I fail to see how this entire amount of Rs. 56 lakhs less small amounts shown to have been paid during the year as per Ext. C can be treated as reserve used as working capital. Of course, I may observe that this point is not altogether free from difficulty. The source of this provision has not been very clearly proved or explained on behalf of the Management. How and wherefrom the sum of money of Rs. 71 lakhs and odd was paid in advance out of this provision has also not been explained. However after a close scrutiny of the balance-sheet and Ext. C it appears to me that the Company had roughly Rs. 56 lakhs and odd out of this provision for taxation at the commencement of the year and during the year the Company paid in different months about Rs. 30 lakhs as detailed in Ext. C. The residue of the previous year's provision-cum-provision made at the close of the year no doubt gives me the figure of

Rs. 51,77,068 as shown in the liability's side of the balance-sheet. From this it may be inferred that the Company actually made provisions for taxation year to year and charged the same to the revenue earned during the year, and thus created a separate fund designated as "provision for taxation". All that I may say is that if there be liquid money by way of provision for taxation in the hand of the Management and if such sum is actually used as working capital, the Company may no doubt treat such sum as reserve. This view of mine has been upheld by the Hon'ble High Court of Calcutta in a very recent decision. In deciding a case of Bengal Ingot Co. Ltd. vs. Fourth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal and Others (1963 I L. L. J. 741), his lordship has observed that the provision made by the petitioner Company for taxation was revenue reserves or profits invested in the business. In this view of the matter, there cannot be any objection to treat the provision for taxation as reserve.

There cannot be any dispute that a return should be allowed on the depreciation reserve or such part thereof as may have been available and used as working capital. Schedule 3 of the balance-sheet shows that up to the end of 1959, the Company had actually provided a sum of Rs. 75 lakhs and odd in its depreciation account, and this depreciation fund must be there in some form or other. This depreciation fund is no doubt a reserve within the meaning of the Full Bench Formula, and the Company is entitled to a reasonable return thereon, if the same was actually used as working capital during the year or any part thereof. From what I have discussed above, it will be sufficiently clear that the Company had a fairly big sum of money in its hand which was no doubt available for being used as working capital by it as and when occasion arose. The next question that arises is whether the Company actually utilised these reserves as working capital for business purpose, and if so for which part of the year. It has been decided by their lordships of the Supreme Court in many a cases that it is for the Company to establish that the reserves in question have been used as working capital during the relevant period before it can claim any return thereon. There have been a few cases also to show the method of proof required for the purpose. In deciding the case of Petlad Turkey Dye Works Ltd. vs. Dyes & Chemical Workers' Union (1961 L.L.J. 548) their lordships of the Supreme Court held as follows:

> "Thus if a person is to prove that he was ill on a particular date, the mere filing of a certificate of a medical man that he was ill on that date is not accepted as evidence to show that he was ill. The correctness of the statement made in the certificate is to be proved by an affidavit or oral testimony in Court by the Doctor concerned or by some other evidence. There is no reason why an exception should be made in the case of balance-sheets prepared by the Company for themselves. It is to be borne in mind that in many cases the Directors of the Company may feel inclined to make incorrect statements in these balance-sheets for ulterior purposes. While that is no reason to suspect every statement made in these balance-sheets, the position is clear that we cannot presume the statements made therein to be always correct. The burden is on the party to assert a statement to be correct and to prove the same by relevant and acceptable evidence. A mere statement in the balance-sheet is of no assistance to show, therefore, that any portion of the reserve was actually utilised as working capital. As was pointed out by Subba Rao J.....the balance-sheet of a Company is prepared by the Company's own officers, and when so much depends on the ascertainment of what portion of the reserve was utilised as working capital, the principles of equity and justice demand that an industrial court should insist upon clear proof of the same and also give a real and adequate opportunity to the labour to canvas correctness of the particulars furnished by the employer."

In view of the principles quoted above, it goes without saying that this Tribunal must be satisfied regarding actual user of the reserves as working capital as alleged by the Company. I have already mentioned that no oral evidence has been adduced on behalf of the Union or the workmen concerned. Two witnesses have been examined on behalf of the Management, and one of them is the Company's Accountant. It is the accepted rule of accountancy and business that current assets minus current liabilities determine the working capital of the Company. The Company has no doubt filed its balance-sheet in respect of the year under consideration and it is marked Ext. A. The correctness of this balance-sheet has not been challenged by the Union. There is no evidence to the contrary. Shri A. K. Mitra, Accountant of the Company, swears that the entries in the balance-sheet are correct, and these have been taken from the books of account maintained by the Company. In the absence of any opinion to the contrary, I cannot but accept the correctness of the entries made in the balance-sheet and this balance-sheet is certainly therefore available for assessing the working capital in this particular case. The Company's Accountant further swears that Ext. C showing the reserves used as working capital is also correct. The Company has not actually produced any other document to show the utilisation of reserves as working capital except Exts. C and D. The Accountant concedes that the Company does not maintain any separate account to show the utilisation of reserves as working capital. He admits that he cannot say from which source the capital expenditure, if any, incurred during the year was made. He also admits that the working capital may vary from month to month, and yet the Company does not maintain any separate account showing the amount of working capital utilised in any particular month. He categorically admits that there is no separate account to show what portion of the general reserve was utilised for business purpose during the year under consideration or for what period thereof. This being the state of evidence, the story of actual user of the reserves as working capital should be accepted after due scrutiny thereof. In Ext. D the Company has tried to show the "source and application of funds" available in the hand of the Company. In this statement, the Company seeks to show the position of assets and liabilities of the Company in different months of the year under consideration From this statement, it appears that the Company's assets always exceeded the ready and available fund or the liabilities of the Company. It is also clear from the deposition of the Accountant that this fund was required to be supplemented throughout the year by various sums of money taken as loan from bank and other sources. Exhibit E shows the Company's overdraft liabilities to different banks in different months of the year under consideration. The Company's liability to banks varied in different months from Rs. 19 lakhs and odd to Rs. 158 lakhs and odd. In Ext. F the Company tries to show the position of current liabilities of the Company in different months and also the position of current assets in respect of those months. In showing the current liabilities, the Company, of course, has not taken into account the sum of Rs. 12 lakhs obtained as loan on mortgaged debenture. So there cannot be any doubt that the entire amount of reserve available in liquid money was actually used as working capital by the Management during the year under consideration. But I may mention here that the Company is not entitled to any return in respect of funds used as working capital which was obtained by way of loan from different sources, because the interest paid to the creditors are always charged to the revenue of the Company. Similarly, the cash in hand or the amount in current deposit with banks should not be treated as reserves used as working capital. It may be pointed out from the asset side of the balance-sheet that the Company had cash and bank balance of Rs. 26,61,078 at the close of the year. So, no return should be allowed on this portion of money. So, in assessing the reserves used as working capital, this sum of money in the hand of the Company or in its current account must be excluded. I do not think the amounts lying to the credit of the Company as "loans and advance" to third parties, should be excluded in assessing the working capital, because such loans and advance may be necessitated by ordinary rules and practice of business. So, the position of reserves used as working capital stands as follows:

	Rs.
Reserve as per schedule 2 of the balance sheet ..	1,08,53,927
Depreciation reserve	75,68,474
	1,84,22,401
Less—
Cash and current deposit	26,61,078
	1,57,61,323

Calculating return at 4 per cent per annum, the total return on the above amount comes to Rs. 6,30,453. But besides above reserve used as working capital, I have already mentioned that the Company also used provision for taxation as working capital and it is entitled to 4 per cent return on this amount also. Exhibit C shows the position of provision for taxation in different months of the year. Taking this part of the statement to be correct, I think, the Company is entitled to a sum of Rs. 1,32,903 as return on this portion of reserve. Thus the total amount of return on reserves used as working capital comes to Rs. 7,63,356.

I am to consider next whether the Company is entitled to any amount for rehabilitation in addition to depreciation already provided for. As per statements marked Exts. H-series, the Company claims Rs. 49,64,318 on account of rehabilitation for the year under consideration. It is this item of rehabilitation which poses as a very difficult problem. The object of providing depreciation for wasting assets in commercial accounting is to recoup the original capital invested in the purchase of such assets. But the amount of depreciation thus allowed can hardly cover the probable cost of replacement or rehabilitation in these days in view of the enormous rise in prices of new plants and machineries and other materials, due to the second world war and various other reasons. Since the second world war the prices of industrial plants and machineries have registered a continuous upward rise and the inevitable consequence has been proportionate rise in the claim for rehabilitation. The depreciation allowed by the Income-tax Act is not sufficient to keep pace with the probable cost of replacement on account of continuous rise in prices. To meet this difficult situation, the Full Bench of the Labour Appellate Tribunal conceded some hehabilitation charges as a prior claim over the gross profits of the year. It is also settled law by now that it is for the Company to establish what extra amount over the statutory depreciation is actually necessary for rehabilitation of the plants and machineries. For assessing the rehabilitation charges, the Tribunal is to determine the multipliers for different blocks of plants and machineries and also divisors based on the useful life of such plants and machineries. But I need not go into details as to the method of calculation of this multiplier and divisor, because the formula has already been elucidated and explained in various decisions by their lordships of the Supreme Court. If the multipliers and divisors can be correctly calculated as per principles laid down by their lordships, it is not difficult to find out what should be the proper prior charge on account of rehabilitation. The Company has adduced both oral and documentary evidence, but the Union or the workmen has no evidence whatsoever for my determination of the multiplier or divisor. It has been repeatedly warned by their lordships that multipliers and divisors should be very carefully calculated, and the evidence adduced on these points must be carefully scrutinised before acceptance. So, even though the evidence on the side of the Management is practically exparte, I think, it is essential for this Tribunal to scrutinise the statements and evidences thoroughly. From Ext. H, a statement showing the calculation of rehabilitation charges for machineries, it will be clear that the Company has assessed multipliers from 7.63 to 1.71 in respect of different years prior to the year under consideration. It will also be clear therefrom that the average useful life of such machineries has been calculated at 25 years only. Similarly Ext. H-1 shows the calculation of rehabilitation charges for the Company's buildings, Ext. H-2 for electric installations, Ext. H-3 for furniture and fittings and Ext. H-4 for motor car, van and lorry. Exhibit J purports to show how the multiplier for pre-1940 block has been assessed by the Company. The other exhibits of the same 1-series purport to show the multipliers in respect of other blocks of machineries. I need not discuss the details of these statements, because some statements filed on behalf of the Company do not by themselves prove the correctness thereof. There must be sufficient legal evidence on record to support the statements or calculations. Here I would like to refer to the deposition of the witnesses examined on behalf of the Management. I have already mentioned that there are only two witnesses on the side of the Company and they are Accountant of the Company and the former General Factory Manager. Shri Mitra, Accountant of the Company, in his examination-in-chief states as follows:

> "So far the machineries are concerned, the multiplier has been obtained from the relevant order book, as the ledger book does not give full particulars of the machineries purchased. The invoice value as shown in the statement determining the multiplier shows the original cost price of different types of machineries. The replacement cost has been obtained by taking into consideration the recent purchases and also with reference to price list received from Molins of India. Most of the machines were obtained from the manufacturer—Molins India. The life of the machineries has been calculated at 25 years on an average. In respect of buildings, the life has been calculated at 30 years and similar is the case with regard to electric installations."

But in his cross-examination, Shri Mitra says—

> "The Factory Manager Shri A. M. Sen told me about the average life of the plants and machineries as shown in our calculation. As to the life of buildings, we have got it from the decision of the Supreme Court as in the A. C. C. case. I have no idea about specification, design or capacity of any particular machine. The original purchase price of different machines has been taken from the order book. The replacement value has been taken in some cases from the purchase value of similar machines in recent years and in some cases from the price list of the same type of machines. I call 'similar' machines because of similar names borne by the machines. The replacement value has been determined by me and nobody else. I cannot say what portion, if any, of the replacement value will be the expansion value in respect of any particular type of machine."

Thus according to Shri Mitra himself, he has no expert knowledge for determining either multipliers or divisors for the purpose of calculation of rehabilitation charges. He purports to have done this partly on the basis of information obtained from Shri Sen and partly from recent price list of machineries called by similar names only. Shri A. M. Sen also makes certain statements in this connection. He says clearly that he considers 25 years should be the life of the machineries. But he adds that from the Administrator's point of view, the economic life of the machines is still lower, i.e., it is 15 years. He tries to say that he has calculated the life of the machines to be 25 years from the Accountant's point of view. It is difficult to understand why the administrator's view point is different from that of the Accountant. Be that as it may, what we are really concerned with is the expected normal useful life of the machineries used in this Company. Shri Sen of course swears that there is a big difference between the price of machines purchased 15/20 years back and the price of present model machines. Generally speaking, this part of Shri Sen's statement is no doubt correct, and it is difficult to ignore that there has been rise in price level since last great war. In his cross-examination, Shri Sen submits that possibly the Company might not have enough resources to replace the machineries after 15 years which is the normal useful life of the machineries, and for this reason alone he has assessed the life of the machineries at 25 years. Shri Sen, of course, concedes he cannot give any special reason for not assessing the useful life at a higher or a lower figure. Nevertheless, he asserts that the assessment has been made on the basis of his experience. Practically, there is no other evidence except what has been mentioned above with regard to the useful life of the machineries. Though no Engineer has been examined on behalf of the Company, I accept the statement of Shri Sen that 25 years is the useful average life of the machineries, because in fact he has had long experience in this Company as General Factory Manager. He is, I believe, quite competent to speak from his own experience that this or that particular machine of this Company gives useful or satisfactory service for so many years. As the Union has not taken the trouble of giving any other estimate on the point, I have no reason why I should brush aside the statement of Shri Sen particularly on the point of divisor or useful life of the plants and machineries. But with regard to multiplier, neither the evidence of the Company's Accountant Shri Mitra nor that of the General Factory Manager Shri Sen is very satisfactory. The Company no doubt produced statements showing the prices of so-called "similar" machines. Shri Mitra is not admittedly a technical man, and he simply based his calculation on the papers available. He cannot say what difference, if any, is there between the old model machine used by the Company and the new model machine, the price of which has been quoted or relied upon. Shri Sen also has no diploma or degree in mechanical engineering. He is only an M.Sc. in Applied Chemistry and originally worked as a Chemist in this Company. There are admittedly mechanical, electrical and refrigerator engineers in this Company, and for reasons best known to the Company none of these engineers has been examined before this Tribunal. Shri Sen admits in his cross-examination that there have been changes in the models of machineries after 1932 in many cases. He also admits that a new model of cigarette making machine of 1960 is claimed by its manufacturer to be capable of giving much better production than the old model one of 1932 or so. He further concedes that he is not in a position to say that the replacement cost as shown in Ext. I-series is of a machine of the same manufacturer, same model and same production capacity whereof invoice value has been quoted. He also admits that all other conditions remaining same, the price of later and improved typed of machines with better productive capacity may be higher. He also concedes that the same type of machine of different manufacturer may differ in price as well as in longivity. Thus from the evidence of Shri Sen also it is clear that the price quotations relied on by the Company for the purpose of multipliers may include in them partly the price of expansion on account of improved technique, productivity etc. In this connection, I may refer to a picture page of Ext. A showing "Molins Mark VIII Cigarette Making Machine" and the particulars thereof mentioned underneath. From the deposition of Shri Sen also it appears that the Company was previously using model No. 5 of this Molins Cigarette Making Machine. The latest model of Molins cigarette making machine is Molins Mark VIII as referred to above. The description of Molins Mark VIII will show that this machine has revolutionised the cigarette manufacture throughout the world. It is clearly mentioned therein that this new model machine is based on the completely novel and unique manufacturing concepts and equipped with an elaborate system of control which automatically make and maintain the meteculously fine adjustment necessary to produce a perfect cigarette. So, it will bo evident that if the replacement cost of a model 5 machine is based on the recent price of Molins Mark VIII, there will be enough scope for deception for an exaggerated claim for rehabilitation, because in Molins VIII there is not only an element of modernisation but also the element of expansion for its various improvements and extra productive capacity. The Company has actually produced a chart based on recent purchases and price quotations, but the quotations in originals have not been filed before this Tribunal, though the Company expressed its readiness to produce or file the same if asked for by the Tribunal or the other party. Be that as it may, I may only observe that in assessing the multipliers of different blocks of machineries, the Tribunal is required to make sufficient scrutiny of the evidences and statements already discussed and come to its own assessment in regard to multipliers as near to actualities and realities as possible.

The Company has determined multiplier above unit in case of buildings, electric installations, furniture and fittings and also automobiles. But the Company has not filed a scrap of paper other than the prepared statements in connection with all these different items for rehabilitation. There is also not an iota of oral evidence to show how and on what basis the multipliers have been assessed in respect of these items other than machineries. Shri Mitra tries to say generally that the assessment of multiplier has been made with reference to Supreme Court decision in the A.C.C. case (1959 A.I.R. S.C. 967). Shri Sen also has little or nothing to say in respect of replacement cost of these assets of the Company. But I may at once observe that the assessment of multiplier, if any, in the A.C.C. case in respect of a different industry situate in an altogether different region. So, no assessment of multiplier can be made in respect of these items simply on the analogy of the A.C.C. case, because such determination must be based on facts relevant to the particular industry and its attendant circumstances. No multiplier can be assessed by pure and simple guess, though even where there are relevant evidences, there is some scope of guess work approaching realities. In this connection, I may helpfully quote one of the latest observations of Mr. Justice B. N. Banerjee of Calcutta High Court in deciding a case of the workmen of Hooghly Docking & Engineering Co. Ltd. vs. Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, and others (1963 I L.L.J. 702). In that case, his lordship observed as follows:

> "In the Associated Cement Company's case, the Supreme Court no doubt approved of some guess work being done in such respect, but emphasised the necessity of making guess as near to actualities and realities as possible and for that purpose directed the Tribunals to admit all relevant evidence about the trend of the price level."

So, in the absence of any evidence whatsoever, I cannot assess the multipliers in respect of the said items simply by guess. The Company was called upon to produce all necessary materials for determining the multipliers and divisors, and the onus of proving the same being on the Company it adduced some evidence with regard to multipliers and divisors in respect of machineries only. But for reasons best known to the Company it failed to produce any evidence in respect of other items of assets to be replaced. So, the claim for rehabilitation in respect of items other than machineries must automatically fail. A prepared statement without being supported by dependable and proper evidence has no evidentiary value, and therefore cannot be relied upon. So, for assessing the rehabilitation charges, I cannot take into account buildings, furniture and fittings, electric installations and automobiles.

As regards machineries and their multipliers, I have already observed that for assessing the replacement cost the Management's claim is a bit too high. After carefully considering the evidences on record, the trend of the price level and the circumstances pointed out by both the parties, I assess the multipliers for different blocks of machineries in the following way:

For blocks right from the beginning up to the end of the year 1939 -3.5.
For blocks after 1939 up to the end of 1944—2.5.
For blocks after 1944 up to the end of 1947—2.0.
For blocks after 1947 up to the end of 1953—1.5.
For blocks after 1953—1.0.

I have already accepted the Company's assessment of useful life to be 25 years on an average, and the divisor shall be calculated on this basis. Basing the calculation on the average useful life of 25 years, it may be said that the residue of useful life of pre-1940 block of machineries will be 4 years, pre-1945 block 9 years, pre-1948 block 12 years, pre-1954 block 18 years and pre-1960 block 24 years. But this residue life cannot strictly be said to be the average residue life. Such residue life is usually calculated on the basis of the last year of the block. But, to be more fair, I calculate the average residue life in a slightly different way. I have already divided the entire machineries in 5 blocks as mentioned above, and on that basis I calculate the average residue life to be 3, 7, 11, 15 and 21 years respectively. I think, it will be more equitable and fair to assess the total rehabilitation costs on the basis of the last mentioned residue lives. The chart which has been made Annexure A to this award will show the details of calculation and the total rehabilitation cost as well as annual requirement for rehabilitation. From this chart it will appear that the annual requirement of rehabilitation charges will come to Rs. 13,21,650. I may also incidentally mention that if the residue lives be calculated at 4, 9, 12, 18 and 24 as mentioned above, the total annual requirement for rehabilitation would be Rs. 10,47,191. However, I accept the other calculation, because that one appears to be more fair and equitable. In the year 1960, the Company's provision for depreciation in the balance-sheet was Rs. 5,90,719. In fact, the notional normal depreciation for the year has also been calculated at this figure. So, the depreciation already provided in respect of the year under consideration, must be deducted from the gross requirement for the year. So, the net requirement for rehabilitation for the bonus year will come to Rs. 7,30,931.

So, the position of available surplus will be as follows:

		Rs.
Gross profits		68,05,316
Less—	Rs.
Notional normal depreciation ..	5,90,719
Income-tax	25,38,150
Return on paid up capital ..	7,49,700
Return on working capital ..	7,03,356
Extra rehabilitation charges ..	7,30,931
Total available surplus		14,32,460

The amount of available surplus having been determined as above, the Tribunal is now required to give direction about distribution of the said available surplus. In deciding the A.C.C. case (A.I.R. S.C. 993), their lordships of the Supreme Court have elaborately laid down what matters are to be considered in making this distribution. It is not at all in dispute that three parties are entitled to claim a share in this available surplus. Labour claims bonus from it, the industry claims a share for the purpose of its expansion and other needs and the shareholders claim a share by way of additional return on the capital invested by them. So, the distribution should be equitable as far as possible in consideration of all attendant circumstances. I have carefully considered the principles laid down by their lordships in this connection, and I think, the distribution should be as mentioned hereafter. In this connection, I may point out that the Company has a fairly big amount of reserves. But in calculating the requirement of rehabilitation, the reserves could not be taken into consideration in view of their being used as working capital. In other words, the fairly big amount of reserves was not taken into consideration in assessing the rehabilitation charges, because these reserves were not readily available for rehabilitation in the year under consideration. It is nobody's case that the wage structure of the Company has reached even a fair standard far less living standard. Dividends actually declared by the Company during the last few years will appear from the chart filed by the Company and exhibited in this case. From Ext. L-2 it will appear that the Company paid Rs. 32, 08,430 as salaries and Rs. 34,69,047 as wages during the year 1960. So, the Company paid monthly on account of salaries and wages on an average Rs. 5,56,456. Therefore, I think, this amount should be treated as monthly remuneration paid by the Company to its employees as a whole. Before I conclude, I may also incidentally mention that no rehabilitation charges were calculated in respect of different kinds of assets other than machineries for reasons already explained, though there are reasons to believe that the Company might be entitled to some rehabilitation for those items of assets also if proper evidence would have been adduced. So, I think, this circumstance also should be kept in view while distributing the available surplus. I cannot also forget that the Company has already declared 16 per cent. dividend on its ordinary shares. The Company, of course, will be entitled to some rebate on income-tax, if it pays any bonus to its employees. Taking all these facts and circumstances into consideration, I think, the workmen can legitimately claim at least one month's wages as bonus. Normally, bonus is paid on the basis of basic wages alone. But there is nothing before this Tribunal to show what is the total amount of basic wages paid by the Company to its workmen. The evidence on record gives me at best an idea of consolidated wages only. So, in the absence of any better material, I direct that bonus be calculated in this particular case on the basis of consolidated wages. Accordingly I finally direct that the Company shall pay to its workmen 1/12th of their annual wages as bonus for the year under consideration, and this should be paid within one month of the publication of this award.

This is my award.

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

For the Union: Shri S. M. N. Imam, General Secretary.

For the Company: Shri K. S. Goswami, Advocate.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 2345-I.R./IR/4L-32/63, dated the 12th June 1963.

Issue

Whether the termination of services of the following workmen is justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

1. Sk. Hamid Manjhi.
2. Sk. Bakar Ali.
3. Sk. Salim
4. Sk. Panchu.

After service of the notices of the reference on the parties, they entered appearance before this Tribunal. The Union took two adjournments for filing its written statement and 27th July 1963 was the second adjourned date for filing written statement by the Union. But, on that date, both parties filed a joint petition of compromise stating that the dispute had been amicably settled upon the terms set out in the annexure to the petition and praying for a compromise award accordingly.

I have considered the terms of settlement. These appear to be quite lawful, fair and reasonable. I am satisfied that there has been a bona fide settlement of the dispute between the parties upon those terms. Accordingly, I would make a compromise award as prayed for.

In the result, I make a compromise award in terms of the joint petition and the annexure, dated 27th July 1963, a copy whereof is made a part of the award as an Annexure.
